FRENCH PREMIER SMASHES STRIKE WITH MILITARY

Daladier Breaks Labor's First Big Challenge to Regime Quickly

Paris, Nov. 30.—(AP)—By a nationwide array of armed force Premier Daladier today quickly broke the 24-hour general strike which constituted organized labor's first big challenge to his government and its economic program.

The stocky premier, whose enemies have accused him of dictatorial ambitions, met the issue head on.

Inside of a few hours there was nothing left of the movement, directed by the powerful General Confederation of Labor, except isolated partial strikes in some private industries, dock workers' strikes in some ports and a few street car strikes.

Mobile guards, police and in many cases army units were in abundant evidence to prove the premier's determination to smash the labor demonstration against his decree laws.

In cases where active opposition was shown trouble makers were hustled off to police stations.

500 Arrests in Paris. Approximately 500 arrests were made in the Paris district and several dozen arrests were reported from other points.

Members of parliament branded the day a fiasco for labor and a resounding triumph for Daladier and his government.

It was predicted that Daladier would have a majority when parliament meets again next month, with support from the right and his own Radical-Socialist party.

The first big break in the strikers' front came at 8 A. M. (2 A. M., C. S. T.), four hours after the strike began, when the subway workers' union in Paris conceded defeat and revoked its strike order.

After some early morning hesitation public service workers in Paris and other cities resumed their posts and duties under military guard.

Railroads Operating. Political leaders expressed the belief that unless the strike movement gained headway later the Daladier government would have established itself firmly enough in the saddle to go ahead with its projected signature of a new Franco-German accord.

The ministry of the interior announced that the arrests in the Paris region were for attempting to keep workers from their posts. The ministry said police were taking stern action against would-be strikers in private industry.

Railroads throughout France and buses in Paris and most other cities were running on regular schedules by noon. All other public services in Paris appeared normal.

Japs Indicate That U. S. Ship May Leave Yangtze

Shanghai, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Japanese indicated today the United States gunboat Monocacy, long isolated near Kiukiang as a result of Japanese military and naval activities along the Yangtze river, might soon return to Shanghai.

Vice Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, commander-in-chief of the Japanese fleet in China, announced that the Monocacy and other foreign vessels in the Yangtze would be permitted to come down the river if naval authorities of the various nations asked permission.

In addition to the Monocacy, there are six other foreign gunboats in the Yangtze between Wuhu and Yochow, all British and French. Previously the Japanese had refused requests to allow the vessels to proceed downstream.

Refuse to Believe AMA From Producing Records

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Justice James M. Proctor refused in Federal District court today to relieve the American Medical Association from producing a large number of its records for the grand jury.

The grand jury is investigating contention of the group health association, a medical cooperative here, that the A. M. A. has violated anti-trust laws.

The court recently killed a subpoena, requiring production of A. M. A. records, on the ground that it was too sweeping. The action today upheld a new subpoena which was drafted to meet the court's objection to the first.

CASH AND NAMES BEING REPORTED TO GOODFELLOWS

The mail for the Goodfellow Department at the Evening Telegraph is beginning to prove two things that we already knew—there are Goodfellows in Dixon and there are little children who will need and depend upon the Goodfellows to give them a Merry Christmas. There are plenty of both and it is the Telegraph's job to get them together.

The Goodfellow Club urges that everyone who knows of youngsters 12 years of age or under who will need help for a happy Christmas, must notify this department at once, giving the names, sex and ages of the children together with their addresses and the names of parents or guardians.

Promptness on the part of donors to the Goodfellow fund is very valuable to the club as it permits better planning for the children on the list.

Goodfellows can help by either taking one or more youngsters' names and supplying them with a Christmas or by donating cash in any amount desired.

The Goodfellow fund this morning stood at:

Find Campaign Charges Against Earle Unfounded

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's Democratic general assembly decided early today that campaign charges against Governor George H. Earle and 13 others high in the administration and the Democratic party was unfounded.

The House of Representatives, voting along strict party lines, approved a majority report of five Democratic members of a legislative investigating committee that they found "no evidence" to substantiate the charges.

A minority report by the two Republican members of the committee was rejected. The Republicans termed the investigation "a farce."

The reports concluded a two-months search by the committee for impeachment evidence.

The charges—blackmail, conspiracy, and political coercion—were preferred by Republican District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county (Harrisburg) in a petition for a grand jury investigation.

Tone Poem Depicting Creative Power of Thos. Edison's Mind Pronounced Success

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The creative power of Thomas A. Edison was interpreted in vibrant and colorful symphonic form last night when "Light," the work of a charming and gifted young woman, was played for the first time by the Woman's Symphony Orchestra of Chicago.

Born of her admiration for the intellectual qualities of the inventor, Radio Britain's composition found ready favor with critics and audience. There was praise for the construction, texture and idea development of the orchestration; there were bravos for Miss Britain, who bowed happily from a box in the Auditorium theater.

The premiere, it was agreed further, had the benefit of a skill-

TWO CONVICTED OF PART IN SPY RING BY JURORS

Fate of Third Alleged German Spy is Still Being Considered

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The federal jury which convicted a man and woman on espionage charges called for a re-reading today of testimony by Erich Glaser, 28, a third defendant, about whom the jurors were unable to agree.

The jury also asked to see letters written by Glaser, a former U. S. Army aid corps private, to Guenther Gustav Rumrich, 32, confessed German agent, who testified against him.

Unaided by the German war ministry officials she was charged with serving, titian-tressed, 26-year-old Fraulein Johanna Hofmann went back to her jail cell weeping to await a possible maximum sentence of 20 years.

Convicted with her was Otto Hermann Voss, German-born mechanic who was seized in a strategic Long Island airplane factory last February, and indicted with Fraulein Hofmann and 16 others, including four German military police.

Woman "Thrown Down" Shortly after the jury announced its verdict, following 4 hours and 25 minutes of deliberation, George C. Dix, attorney for Miss Hofmann, declared: "The Germans threw her down."

"If Hitler would send us money," he added dryly, "we would appeal."

Counsel for Glaser indicated that lack of funds would force him, also, to rest his case solely with the district court jury.

An hour before it answered the appeal of U. S. Attorney Lamar Hardy to cut Germany's "lines of communication" in this country by convicting Miss Hofmann and Voss, the jury inquired last night if it could recommend mercy for the defendants.

Judge John C. Knox told the 10 men and two women, "you must find the defendants guilty or not guilty, and if you find some guilty and wish to add a recommendation of mercy, I shall be glad to receive it."

Possible Clemency When the jury returned with a flat verdict of conviction without recommendation for two of the defendants, possible clemency for Glaser was indicated when its deliberations were resumed today (9 A. M., C. S. T.).

Awaiting sentence with Miss Hofmann and Voss today was Guenther Gustav Rumrich, Chicago-born, German-bred deserting army sergeant, whose arrest led to a roundup of suspected German agents. He pleaded guilty at the opening of the trial.

FIRE AT STATE HOSPITAL

Stockton Cal., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Approximately 360 inmates were led to safety when fire broke out in a ward of the Stockton state hospital early today. About a dozen of those described as criminally insane broke from the ranks and fled, but all but five were quickly rounded up. The fire, of undetermined origin, caused damage estimated by Police Ralph Thompson at $40,000.

Waiting Ends

Edwardsville, Ill., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Herbert Givlio finally has tucked away the deed to his farm—after the document "waited" 60 years.

Inheriting the 227-acre property from his father, Givlio discovered recently he didn't have the deed. He found it at the Madison county recorder's office—filed Jan. 8, 1878, and placed in the "will call" box.

Princeton Women in Fatal Crash Tuesday

Mrs. Russell Hodge, 30, of Princeton, was killed and Mrs. Clyde W. Miller, also of Princeton, severely injured last night when an automobile driven by Mrs. Miller overturned several times and caught fire as she avoided striking a Northwestern train at a crossing near Buda.

Mrs. Miller dragged Mrs. Hodge from the burning car but the latter's injuries were fatal.

The plight of the women was discovered by a trucker an hour after the crash.

Honored previously for her achievements in music, Miss Britain was inspired to compose "Light" when she was vacationing in the Wisconsin woods.

"The composition," she said, "attempts to portray the ingenious mind of the inventor at work. The colossal Edison impelled me to set to write a tone poem which depicts in its introduction the dark, somber earth sounds before there was light."

The work moves through various moods to lyrical, pulsating measures which give it a rousing culmination.

"Please Shop Early", His Plea

Dixon Merchants Have Prepared for Early Shoppers With Exceptionally Fine and Complete Christmas Stocks

Christmas looms in the offing, and while retailers realize that YOU'RE not the type of person who waits till the last minute to do a "grab, root or growl" stunt for gifts that might have been bought before, still, they are suggesting that if you wish to see everything at its best, it isn't wise to wait.

Their wares are in, their stocks are on shelves, and comparative peace reigns throughout. Drop in now and give yourself a break. After all, today it's fresh merchandise, picked from the chief markets of the nation. Somewhere along the counters there are suitable gifts for everyone.

Months ago, merchants (with more foresight than usually is shown by customers) did their Christmas shopping, going to Chicago, to New York, to every important wholesale center in the country. Now they have one of the most complete collections of Christmas merchandise ever assembled in this community.

Why Delay? Why should you purchase only that which has been left by others? Would you be perfectly contented if you were forced to do no purchasing until half the community had gone over the stock-picking and choosing here and there? Naturally not, so why permit mere procrastination to rob you of the joy of first choice.

Besides that, who wants to be listed among the casualties of the last-minute rush? Is there any joy in having elbows and bulky packages jabbing you from all sides? Do you enjoy the sensation when hurrying shoppers kick your shins and bounce you to one side as they go rushing through the throng? Or would you prefer to contentedly do as you like during the last few days, secure in the knowledge that your gifts are purchased, wrapped and labeled?

While you're answering the aforementioned questions, don't forget your fellow humans, the clerks, who would rather be comfortably tired at the end of each day for four weeks than exhausted completely during the peak of the holiday period, even if the work had been rather light before.

Everything is complete, everything is fresh, everything is at its best. If you shop now, you get the breaks, the clerks get the breaks. Try it out. Read every page of today's Christmas Shopping Edition carefully—then arrange to "DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY!"

DICKSONS CALLED COUPLE NO. 1 BY F. B. I. CHIEF

Fugitives Reported in Missouri and On Way Toward Wisconsin

BULLETIN. Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A search along the north shore for Benny Dickson and his wife, newly designated public enemies, ended today when the information that prompted the hunt proved erroneous.

The search was started after police in suburban Evanston were informed one of the occupants of a north-bound automobile resembled Dickson. When the car was halted in Milwaukee, however, only three youths who had no connection with the fugitive couple were in it.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Chief of Police William A. Payne said a man and a woman, seen on the streets here early today had been identified by an employee of a health resort here as Benny Dickson and his blonde wife, at present couple No. 1 of the crime world.

Payne said the employee, Matt Kennell, was walking toward the health resort when he noticed a car parked at the curb with the woman behind the wheel and the man slumped over in the front seat as if doubled up with pain.

Believing the pair to be patients at the health resort the man offered to aid them to the door but the woman started the car and drove away at high speed.

The employee said the man's face was covered with a three or four day growth of beard and that three rifles were in the back seat of the car.

Illinois License Plates The car carried Illinois license plates.

Members of the Missouri highway patrol at Lees Summit said officers had been dispatched to Excelsior Springs.

Kennell identified a picture of Dickson as the man seen in the car. Last Thursday Dickson escaped from officers at a Topeka, Kan., tourist camp when officers fired 48 shots at him. It was believed he suffered a head wound in a brush with Michigan State police early Monday.

Since then three persons have been kidnapped by the couple and police in Michigan, Illinois and Indiana have been on the alert for them.

At Detroit last night John C. Bugas, chief of the federal bureau of investigation there, said Dickson, 27, and his 17-year-old wife, Estelle, had been positively identified as the persons who robbed two South Dakota banks.

Without Honor Dale, Ind., Nov. 30.—(AP)—After 12 months of the "honor system," this town of 770 persons has fallen back on a town marshal for law enforcement.

The town did away with the marshal's job last December. Then burglars began breaking into trucks, thieves stole everything that wasn't tied down, reckless drivers went wild and fire insurance rates increased.

Now citizens are looking forward to a peaceful Christmas—the town board hired a new marshal.

Will County Supervisors Vote to Settle $600,000 Suit to Recover County Funds

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 30.—(AP)—By a vote of 24 to 10, the Will county board last night adopted a resolution to settle the civil suit to collect $600,000 allegedly missing from the accounts of Herbert R. Jones, county treasurer from 1930 to 1934.

The resolution specified first that the county will receive $125,000 in cash from Jones' bondsman. It also specified that dividends in closed banks amounting to $69,226 be paid the county; that receivers' certificates for the remainder be turned over to the county and that a judgment be sought against Jones covering any assets as may reveal in the future.

The board also ordered, in effecting the settlement, that Jones and his bondsman pay preliminary costs of the civil suit, amounting to about $5,000.

The $600,000 involved in the suit included a direct shortage of $163,000, a total of $303,000 tied up in closed banks and an $80,000 transfer from the bond fund to the general fund which the board contended was illegal.

Jones' bondsman, the Columbia Casualty Company, filed the suit for an accounting. When the action was filed county officials said the statute of limitations precluded prosecution of Jones.

GLASSBURN'S HOME ONE OF TEN MOST MODERN IN SECTOR

"Hill-Crest," the new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Glassburn on Plum Hollow Road, is one of the ten most modern residences served by the Illinois Northern Utilities company in north central Illinois, according to decision of the judges in the company's modern home contest, which closed on Oct. 31. Yesterday, the Glassburns received a check for $100 as their share of the $1,000 prize award.

There were ten points of judging. The first five, covering home value, were: good location and architecture, sound construction and skilled labor, quality materials and equipment, landscaping and interior decoration and sound financing. The second five points given consideration consisted of the more recent developments which "transform mere living into better living," and included: new materials, plumbing and sanitation, heating and air conditioning, insulation and sound deadening and electric or gas services.

The Glassburn home, which the family has been occupying since June, is constructed of brick, and is Old Normandy in design. It will now be entered in a nation-wide contest being sponsored by the General Electric Company.

Judges in the I. N. U. contest included Carl Buchner, Jr., Kenneth Haines, Robert Harbridge and Mrs. Joseph Killeen.

Mrs. Mary Walker of Ashton Died Last Eve

(Telegraph Special Service) Ashton, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Mary Walker, widow of the late William Walker, passed away at her home at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. Funeral services will be held at the Evangelical church here at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the Rev. Park O. Bailey, pastor, officiating and with interment in the Ashton cemetery.

Mrs. Walker, a native of Pennsylvania, was about 53 years old and had been a resident of Ashton for about 40 years. On Dec. 25, 1897 she was married to William Walker, who preceded her in death March 11, last. She is survived by one son, Charles, of Casselton, N. D.

LUXURY PRESENT CARRIES JOY TO MOST PRACTICAL

Most Practical Minded
Person Likes Something
Not Needed

Even the most practical-minded person likes to have Santa Claus leave at least one luxury present—a gift that isn't a necessity at all, but which adds a great deal to his joy of living.

In addition to the practical, easy-to-laundry underwear and warm bathrobe she needs, you may be sure that a lacy, frothy, utterly luxurious bed jacket and a nightgown that looks like an evening gown would make mother pretty happy. She'd like stockings that are gossamer sheer, mules of checked or plaid brocade, enough fur for a hat to match her fur coat, a big bottle of perfume, a gift order for a new dress-up frock, long daytime gloves of finest suede, an evening bag, a fitted overnight case.

The home maker on your list is sure to consider a quilted satin bedspread with draperies to match the height of luxury indeed. A hammered aluminum buffet server with compartments for keeping hot dishes hot will make her happy, as will elephant bookends in black and white marble. A plate glass desk set, beautifully etched in leaf motif, is new. Consider, too, a set of pure white bath towels in criss-cross weave with royal blue monograms or a huge, flower-shaped salad bowl of rare wood from Hawaii. Salad and fork of polished bone with Sterling silver handles will appeal to any hostess.

For the most luxurious of all the luxury gifts for women, head straight for the fur department of your favorite store. There, in addition to fur coats and sumptuous evening capes and jackets that she loves, you'll find a variety of muffs.

And muffs are the fashion news of the hour. One of the newest is of two chubby squares of mink, tied together with a wide brown satin bow. A similar type, in sleek black Persian lamb appears to be square pillows of fur, fastened together with black satin ribbon tied in an arresting bow at the top.

A velvet evening wrap with sleeves and yoke of snowy ermine would please a glamor girl. A reasonably priced wrap of white tweed with royal blue paillettes looks luxurious but really isn't expensive.

For little girls, new luxury presents include: A sewing set with directions for pattern making; a V-shaped bag of smooth wine alligator; a miniature vacuum cleaner that can be plugged into any socket in the baseboard; a small washing machine that runs by electricity; a Tyrolean ski jacket with attached hood and mittens to match; a home screen test device designed to test her young friend's acting ability.

For boys, there are: Toy trains with a push button which uncouples the rear car while the rest of the train moves on; a tractor in pedal car size; a bus which flashes a red light when it stops; a seaman's chest with lock and key for his room; marionettes.

Displays of jewelry, as always, provide the most permanent of luxury gifts. He might like a wrist watch curved to fit the side of his wrist.

She might like a fairly wide collar or cultured pearls. A massive gold clip has a hand-painted medallion in the center. Bracelets and necklaces of walnut-size stones, set in yellow gold, are new.

The world's largest wheat field is at Hardin Mont. It comprises 200,000 acres leased through the Interior Department to Thomas Campbell, and is part of two Indian reservations.

The Sphinx is the most ancient example of independent sculpture extant.

TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT

Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, may have difficulty getting senate approval if he is nominated for a cabinet position, and part of the senate animosity against him is based on a report that Hopkins once said:

"We will spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect." The quotation was published by Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times.

Mr. Hopkins said there is no basis of fact for such a quotation.

Mr. Krock said he verified the report carefully before printing it.

The upshot seems to be something like the Scotch verdict: Guilty, but not proved. It is said that even if Hopkins didn't say it, the quotation is in line with his policy.

Let us assume that Mr. Hopkins was too shrewd to have made such a damaging statement where it might reach unfriendly ears, or though it was not in his mind to spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect. There still remains the general charge that even if he didn't say it, he might have; there is the suspicion in too many minds that Hopkins is taking that very course. There is the statement by a United States senator that he didn't believe Hopkins made the statement attributed to him, but that he wouldn't favor Hopkins' appointment to a cabinet post.

The point is that no one has come forward to defend the Hopkins spending program and the Hopkins policy in general.

If Calvin Coolidge had been administrator of something comparable to WPA in happier days, and some one had quoted Coolidge as saying:

"We will spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect," everyone in the United States would have known beyond peradventure of a doubt that the whole story was a falsehood. No person knowing the man would have said:

"He may not have said it, but that's his general policy."

DON'T FORGET THE PILOTS

The public is left somewhat in the dark as to the eventual number of military airplanes which the administration plans to build. In one article we read that we shall have 13,000 fighting aircraft; another says producing will be geared to 1000 a month.

If we are to have 13,000 effective airplanes it would appear that we would therefore require 13,000 effective pilots, assuming that the plans are to make it possible for that many planes to take the air at once.

We submit that the project of providing 13,000 first-class pilots is quite some task. If the planes are to be manned effectively these pilots must be aviators of the first magnitude, capable not only of flying a plane in the conservative, solid way that air mail planes are handled, but also of doing dizzy stunts in an actual dogfight. Presumably they will have to understand marksmanship as well as stunt maneuvering. A certain number of observers will have to be trained, as well as gunners for planes that accommodate more than one air fighter.

During the World war it was possible to take a bright young man into the service and make him a fairly good officer in 90 days, provided he had the fundamental training his branch of service called for. But the number of men who fly planes in this country, even as amateurs, is limited. If we are to have a standing force of 13,000 airplanes and facilities to turn out an additional 1000 a month, then we must be able to turn out 1000 additional pilots a month, or nearly that number.

For in warfare the destruction of an airplane generally brings with it the death or capture of the pilot.

If any country is capable of providing 1000 planes a month, and 1000 men to fly them, it is the United States. But it is a man-sized job.

FORTY YEARS COURTING

Joseph H. Hickey, 80 years old, is a solid and conservative resident of Salem, Mass. Miss Carrie B. Pyne, spinster, 72 years old, of Beverly, Mass., is a conservative resident of her town. Even the names and places of residence suggest substantiality and reluctance to enter into projects with unbecoming haste.

Mr. Hickey has applied for a marriage license, with Miss Pyne as the object of his protracted devotion. To newspaper men Mr. Hickey stated that he had been courting Miss Pyne forty years. After that long a period, we are left to imagine, Mr. Hickey reached the inescapable conclusion that he and Miss Pyne were made for each other; that for them to continue in their respective states of bachelorhood and spinsterhood would be a denial of justice to their throbbing hearts.

If we are tempted to smile at this wintry romance we need only to remember that some states require applicants to state their intentions three or more days in advance of the ceremony. At least the Massachusetts couple have given the matter due thought.

RETALIATION FOR RETALIATION

All civilized nations hold that one person should not be punished for the sins of another. The hysterical state in which Europe finds itself as result of the wave of aggression shows how nearly the veneer of civilization has worn off.

The Germans are wreaking vengeance upon all German Jews because a Jewish youth shot Ernst vom Rath, a German diplomat, in Paris. Everyone in this country has pointed out to everyone else that Jewish shop keepers should not be held accountable for what the Jewish lad did in Paris. Nobody seems to disagree. We have called home our ambassador, and the Germans, in retaliation, have called home theirs.

But Herschel Grynzspan, the youth who murdered vom Rath, was visiting the sins of the nazis in general upon the head of vom Rath, who, as far as has been showed, never harmed him. He hated the nazis because they had chased his father out of Germany. So he shot the first German he saw. Vom Rath may have been a rampant nazi, or he may not have been. We have been unable to find any description of vom Rath's personality.

The matter goes back farther than that. The Grynzspan anger mounted because the elder Grynzspan had been deported from Germany, and the elder Grynzspan was deported because the Poles had suddenly made it appear that passports of Polish Jews outside of Poland were to be can-

Washington—The secret plans for the expansion of civil aviation, as part of the national defense program that will be submitted to congress, are even more sensational than the enlargement of the military air forces.

Army and navy experts consider the fighting squadrons merely the front line defenses of the country. They hold that without a large civil aeronautics establishment to act as a man power and equipment reserve the combat forces are fatally deficient.

U. S. civil aircraft is the peer of any in the world, but it is inferior in quantity in comparison to the size and resources of the country and its far-flung defense problems. A large expansion of civil aviation would mean not only the training of thousands of pilots and mechanics yearly but the development of a large-scale aircraft industry that would make the nation impregnable in the air against any combination of aggressors.

That is the goal of the war and navy general staffs and to attain it this is the plan they have worked out with civilian experts and authorities:

1. Increase civil aircraft through direct and indirect government subsidies from the present total of 10,000 planes to 100,000.

2. Development through direct government aid of a plane that would sell for less than $1,000.

3. A large-scale government financed airport building program, the ports to be used as centers for local air clubs, which would be promoted through government assistance.

4. Establishment of aeronautic courses in every university, college and high school in the country. In preparation for this plan the Bureau of Education has sent questionnaires to more than 20,000 schools inquiring about the aviation training they are offering in their curricula. What officials are after is an annual student body of not less than 100,000 taking courses in aeronautic engineering, mechanics and flying.

Unread Record

Prominent among those who took an active role at the Southern Conference on Human Welfare was Birmingham's sprightly New Deal Representative Luther Patrick. He presided at several sessions and took a leading part in every important discussion. But at a meeting of the youth group of the conference, Patrick was taken to task for voting against the anti-lynching bill last spring. He defended himself on the ground that the measure was one-sided, in that it did nothing about gangsters in the north.

"I was not aware that was a major consideration when the legislation was being debated in Congress," spoke up Mrs. Roosevelt, who was present at the round-table debate.

"Oh, yet it was," replied Patrick. "It was widely commented on by the newspapers and in the Congressional Record."

"Well, I don't recall seeing it in the papers and no one reads the Record."

"You are right there, Mrs. Roosevelt," Patrick said, after the laughter had subsided, "and it's a good thing, too. That's how a lot of us are able to stay in Congress."

Note—The large Municipal Auditorium was unable to hold the throng that turned out to hear Mrs. Roosevelt address an evening session of the conference. When she heard there was an overflow crowd, she went outside and repeated her talk.

Aristocrats

White House servants are the aristocrats of their class in Washington. Not only are they tops socially, but their pay is considerably above that of the average domestic.

For example: Even the third cook gets $20 a week. The second cook gets $25 and the first $31. The first butler also gets $31. The lowest paid butler gets $24. There are four housemen who receive $22 a week each. The lowest wage on the White House domestic staff is $19 a week, paid to each of five maids.

Past, Present and Future Washington has changed since the days of "Queenie." She was the White House cow in Taft days, lived in a barn just across from the State department and when the president and his family went to Beverly, Mass., for the summer, "Queenie" was put on the train and taken along. . . .

ceded. In retaliation the Germans suddenly hustled thousands of Polish Jews back into Poland.

There is this difference, however. Grynzspan was an inexperienced youth, unbalanced by fear and uncertainty. German statesmen, if they can be called that, are old enough to know better.

Sinclair Seals It With Kiss

Novelist Sinclair Lewis, more recently an actor, fervently kisses Actress Helen Hayes after Miss Hayes vouched for him when he applied for junior membership in Actors' Equity.

Ansel Wold, clerk of the Joint Committee on Printing, occasionally has to censor the autobiographies of new congressmen, because they want to insert harsh comments about their rivals. . . . The title of the book being written by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will be "My Memoir." It will be published in March. . . . Only one applicant out of 1,000 gets by the preliminary tests for a G-man. The Justice department has more than 200,000 applications on file.

Jewish Advice

Perhaps Berny Baruch wouldn't take the same stand today, but several months ago he advised Roosevelt not to do anything about the Jewish refugee problem. He told the president that he had enough troubles at home without worrying about the Jews in Europe.

Roosevelt ignored his advice, proceeded with his international refugee conference.

Note—Roosevelt's concern for the Jews probably is responsible for the Democratic victory in New York state last month. Lehman and Roosevelt were distinctly cool, as a result of the Supreme Court battle, but when the president showed his concern for the Jews, about a year ago, Lehman wrote him a warm letter of appreciation. That healed the breach, paved the way for Lehman's gubernatorial candidacy.

Defiant Wallace

Congress will soon bear down on Washington with demands for scrapping Henry Wallace's cherished acreage control theories of solving the farm problem. Wallace's answer to this demand is to move as fast as possible in the opposite direction.

Far from letting down the bars, Wallace is joining hands with other countries to put them up.

There are two international conferences in the offing, at each of which will be discussed ways and means of relieving wheat surpluses by acreage control.

The first conference, promoted by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, will be held at Winnipeg next month. Canadian wheat growers are worried. They are enjoying a pegged price of 80 cents a bushel, but conscious that the peg will cost the Dominion $50,000,000 or more, fear public pressure will force its abandonment next year.

So the Manitobans are beginning to think in terms of acreage control, and want to talk with a neighbor who has tried it. Bracken asked Wallace to send a delegation to Winnipeg. Though no announcement has been made of this, Wallace will send crop expert R. M. ("Spike") Evans and foreign expert L. A. Wheeler.

Of much greater importance is the meeting in London, after the turn of the year, of the International Wheat Committee. For the first time in five years this committee will have full attendance from the major producing nations.

During that time, Argentina remained aloof on the side lines. But she, with a bumper crop on her hands and a glutted world market, is ready to cooperate. A major topic on the agenda of the London conference is acreage control on an international scale. Apparently not concerned about the threatening congressional revolt, Wallace is prepared to pledge U. S. cooperation.

There are 20,076 licensed pilots in the United States as of July 1, 1938. California leads the states with a total of 3896 pilots. Of this total, 2054 are private flyer.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT WILL WORK OVER-TIME IN VICINITY

It looks as though the Christmas spirit will be working overtime in Dixon this year, since it has arrived on the scene close on the heels of Thanksgiving festivities and will continue for at least—well, it's just 26 days away until Dec. 25, so you'd better budget your time right now. Santa Claus' suit went to the cleaners this week, so the jolly old gentleman's gay attire will be ready to clothe St. Nick whenever needed.

Maybe you've already started racking your brain for an original idea for this year's Christmas card or are struggling with your latent artistic talents; but most folks are selecting their greeting cards from brightly laden racks in downtown stationer's shops. You can take your pick, on being brief or wordy, going in for sophistication or sentiment, having colors bright or subdued—no matter what you choose, it all adds up to "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," and a heart-warming custom it is.

After all, the Christmas spirit can't be working overtime—that's impossible. Remember how you said you wished everyone could be as kindly and full of goodwill all year as they are at Christmas time. Well, this is probably just a started on that program!

The four aerial highways used by North American birds are known as the Atlantic, Mississippi, Central, and Pacific fly-ways. Some migrants go north by one route and return by another. All birds of one species do not follow the same route.

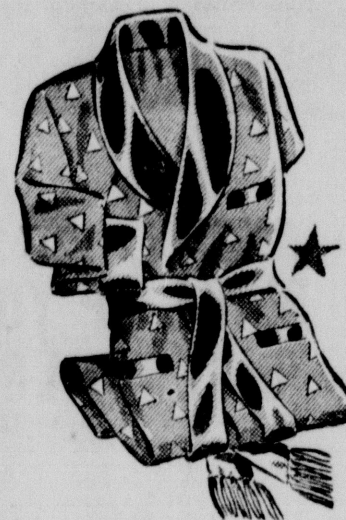

North Carolina's 1938 turkey crop was estimated to be 10 per cent less than 1937 while that of Virginia, a sister state, was calculated to be 12 per cent greater.

The Army Post Murders

By VIRGINIA HANSON

THE CHARACTERS

Katherine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.

Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter.

Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday, Adam has no luck in tracing the person behind Ethel Curtis. The killer was evidently eager to keep the skeleton in the family closet.

Chapter 23

CONFLICTING STORIES

It was not necessary to speculate who was on the telephone. The voice carried easily across the room, and I gathered that the speaker was annoyed.

He had been trying to get hold of someone—anyone—for two hours. They all murdered there at Fort Havens? And when he asked for the Service Club that blankety-blank operator had the blankety-blank nerve to tell him he was keeping the line open for an important call from Omaha. It had cost him at least a dollar to convince the fool that he was the important call from Omaha and that a certain dundering ox could prepare to go back to his troop beginning tomorrow. And tell him—was Elizabeth there, and was she all right?

It was her father. I listened to Adam measure him, answer questions, supply the reluctant information that there had been a new murder.

I heard the howl of rage, of incredulity, of blasphemy with which this was greeted. Presently Adam laid down the instrument gently, strode to the door with a rather weak grin for me and summoned Elizabeth.

The voice on the wire was quieter now. She said, "Yes Father. No, Father," in soothing dutiful accents. Then, "All right, dear, don't worry. Major Drew is doing splendidly and I'm not in the slightest danger. Kay and Annie and I are all together. . . . Yes, dear, we'll be looking for you."

She replaced the telephone, explained inadequately. "He's flying back as soon as it's light and bringing a Federal Bureau man with him. He—I think he has an idea there's a homicidal maniac at large. He wants us to go home and bolt all the doors; and he's given orders for a guard around the house." She smiled faintly.

"Not a bad idea," said Adam, but I sensed that his pride was touched. "Before you go, however, I'd like to ask you a few questions—and Annie, too, if you don't mind."

She did not mind, naturally—anything at all she could do to help. But she was afraid she knew nothing—nothing at all. She had been at home when Anne was shot.

Adam seized on that. Had she seen anyone while she was at home?

"No. No one at all," she answered with an air of calm surprise as if to ask, should she have?

"I sat in the library for a while, waiting for the call—which did not come, by the way." She had gone upstairs for a minute, then down the back stairs to the kitchen, where she had a drink of water and a sandwich.

"Annie had left some—I'm afraid dancing always makes me hungry."

"You didn't leave the house then?" Adam asked casually.

"No. I thought the call might still come through."

For no apparent reason she blushed deeply, then grew rather pale. She turned to me with a forced smile. "Then I heard Katherine drive up and came out presently to see who it was. She—she told me about Anne."

"Then you drove right to the hospital?"

"Yes. I had to wait. Finally Barney joined me, then Annie. She sounded like a dutiful child reciting a rather dull lesson. 'I don't know how long we sat there—it seemed like hours.'"

Panic In Her Eyes

"Then, when you came back to the club, you went at once to the kitchen?"

"Well, practically so. Everyone seemed so peaked and drawn and sort of lost; and Barney came out of the library looking as if he would fly apart. I thought perhaps if he had something to do—he wouldn't go back to quarters."

"And when did Annie arrive?"

"While the lights were out. I remember she frightened me for a moment. I had just lighted the candles and they weren't burning very brightly. She began to scold me—she always does—for being there alone in the dark. I wasn't really alone—Barney was just out in the corridor—but I was glad to see her."

Suddenly Adam put on his most persuasive manner. He reminded her that she was among friends. He assured her that nothing she said would ever again be mentioned by either of us. And then, in language less pointed than that lady had used, he repeated Mrs. Wheeler's story of seeing Anne leave Elizabeth's house in tears.

I don't know which of us was the more startled. Elizabeth held herself under rigid control, but there was no disguising the panic in her eyes nor the waves of flaming color that rushed into her face. Small beads of moisture sprang out across the bridge of her nose and on her upper lip, and her breathing was suddenly noisy.

"That is no concern of Mrs. Wheeler's," she said in a queer, strangled voice. "Nor of you or anyone else." She grew calmer.

The matter was purely personal—between Anne and me. It could have no possible bearing on her death.

Wild horses could not have dragged more out of her, and Adam was too intelligent to try. He asked her to send Annie in to him and stood there watching her cross the dance floor in the rumpled pink organdy shepherdess dress that was now so much more than incongruous.

"And what do you know about that?" he murmured aside to me. He was nervous, alert, quivering with eagerness like a bird dog at point.

"I guess is as good as mine," I told him with something like dismay. Surely, surely Elizabeth was not mixed up in this. How ghastly for Adam if he were compelled to report to Colonel Wright that his daughter was the prize suspect! For the chain of evidence was growing stronger, link by link. No alibi for the shooting, and only a circumstantial one for the stabbing.

Annie came in warily, like a cat into a strange kitchen. Her eyes rested inscrutably on me, swerved to Adam with no change of expression.

Not To Be Shaken

His manner, her would have served as well for the colonel's lady. She perched distrustfully on the edge of the chair he held for her and folded knotty hands tight together in her lap. Her lips were folded, too, and her faded blue eyes were shrouded in determined reticence.

It took a bit of wheedling to get her to unfold those lips, and even when she did it was my impression that she had come prepared to say just so much and no more. In fact she said it several times, in varying forms, but the gist of the matter was that Elizabeth had been with her at the colonel's quarters from quarter of eleven until a quarter past. And she was not to be shaken in that stand.

"But Elizabeth did not mention you, Adam protested good-humoredly. 'In fact she definitely stated that she saw no one while she was at home.'"

"She wouldn't be thinkin' of me. The poor dear thought you meant folks—company."

"And she didn't go back to tell you about Anne. How do you account for that?"

I opened my lips to say that she might have, but I thought better of it. And Annie did not contradict him.

"She was that excited she forgot it," she said coolly.

"How did you find out about it, by the way?"

Annie blinked. "It was that Mr. Nelson—the big fellow. He drove up and come in hollering for Elizabeth, so I come down to see what he wanted. He told me about—her."

A brief spasm twisted the wrinkled face. The hands in her lap twitched. "He said he was on his way to the hospital, so I went up and put on me black and followed."

"You were in bed, then, when he came?"

"Where else? At that hour."

She sniffed loudly, as if to remind him that she had her work to do and couldn't go sky-hooting around at all hours of the night—and now look at her.

I could almost hear the words chasing themselves around in her mind, but she was silent, in deference either to Adam's rank or to the gravity of the situation.

Adam leaned forward and lowered his voice. It's rather appalling to see a man turn on his charm as easily as he would the ignition switch of his car. I had watched him do all evening, but it occurred to me that I had not noticed when he directed it at me. Or had he?

I took a rather mean satisfaction in seeing him fail this once, at least. For it definitely did not work on Annie. There was a slightly ribald gleam in her hooded eyes that vanished quickly as he stated his business—the same

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Karin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

GIFTS FOR HOME IN ABUNDANCE IN THIS YEAR'S SHOW

Special Attention Given Those Who Live in Smaller Homes

'Advance glimpses into Santa's bags today indicated that this jolly old traveler plans to bring an extra sleigh caravan filled with gifts for the home. This is due to the great increase in delightful living and home entertaining, it is rumored.

Celebrating the return to a real home spirit, Santa announces that he has gathered together home gifts for every member of the family. Special thought has been given to those who live in small homes and apartments, as it is believed that Christmas cheer should be bountiful everywhere.

Electric Gifts. Actively campaigning for better eyesight and better health among all his beloved boys and girls, Santa is bringing many new lamps for the home and study. For health and comfort, he is announcing many new health lamps, sun lamps, and other electrical health equipment. Home conveniences, such as new electric washing machines, ironers, dishwashers, etc., are considered health gifts, too.

Special electrical gifts for mother will include complete breakfast sets, and hostess trays, fully equipped. But father has not been forgotten, and smoking sets, shaving sets, and other electrical gifts are planned for his comfort and convenience.

Silver Makes Lasting Gift. Economy and lasting beauty are suggested by Santa in silverware gifts. Arriving this week, his extra sleighs are bringing many new styles for every member of the family, from baby's first set to a new silver set for mother. Beautiful hammered silver bowls and trays, lovely carving sets, and monogrammed silver sets for the dresser or table are included. Sterling silver or guaranteed styles may be had.

For especially nice gifts, Santa suggests jelly sets, cheese sets, a coffee percolator and tray, cake plates, relish dishes, sandwich trays, or any one of the smart new silverware for the table or for the parlor entertaining. And because Santa has been too rushed to have these all monogrammed, the local stores will do it for you.

Warm Gifts.

Not forgetting the importance of real home comfort, Santa announces that he has brought a special sleigh of soft woolly blankets, downy filled comforts, always so welcome. Big, soft cushions for the floor in front of the fireplace, and smaller pillows for the living room sofa are also in his bag.

For those who like to take their warmth with them, Santa suggests a new portable electric heater which will bring comfort to any cool spot in the home.

For Christmas Hostess.

Big baskets and boxes filled with luscious fruits and candies are suggested for the Christmas hostess. Many of these come in boxes or baskets which may be used by her for sewing baskets or beauty boxes afterwards.

There are many other suggestions for your Christmas hostess, such as guest towels in bright new linens, dainty tea or cocktail napkin sets, bridge luncheon sets, exquisitely embroidered pillows or bedroom linens or towels. Transparent glove and hat boxes are new and smart.

Animals, as well as human beings, are subject to snow-blindness.

Personalize Your Gift to Him with a Smart Monogram

He may like the shirt or muffler you give him . . . the Sterling buckle or tie case may be just what he wants . . . you may be thanked profusely for giving a robe or pajamas—but if you want to double that thanks, see to it that what you give him is monogrammed!

By having his initials placed on his gift, you immediately take it out of the "gift for anybody" class and make it his alone! And in most cases, the addition of his initials will not increase the cost of the gift too much. As a matter of fact, there are any number of things to give him that have metal initials that can be clipped on without delay.

However, fabric gifts generally have to be embroidered and that is why we suggest that you buy his gift in plenty of time.

There are about 300 soaring pilots in the United States. In Germany there are approximately 15,000.

PIONEER PASSES

Mrs. Hattie Beitel, 76, of Steward, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Hennrich, in Decatur, Iowa, following an illness of six weeks. She was born Nov. 29, 1861, in Stoneridge, Reynolds township, daughter of Lyman and Clara Wilcox, pioneer settlers. She lived in Steward for 46 years, and had lived with her daughter for the last six years. Her husband, Clement, died in 1929, and five brothers and a sister also preceded her in death. Surviving are three children, Mrs. Hennrich, Perry, living near Rochelle, and Lester of Shabbona, nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 28, at 1:30 o'clock at the home of the son, Perry, and at 2 p. m. at the Steward Methodist church. The Rev. Fred Nazarene of Rochelle, the Rev. Henry Paige White, of Sterling, former Steward Methodist pastor, and the Rev. David Jordan, pastor of the Steward Methodist church, officiating, and burial was made in the Steward cemetery.

DEATH WAS SUDDEN

Mrs. Arnold, 85, died suddenly at 5:30 a. m. Saturday at her home in White Rock township, near Kings. Funeral services were conducted Monday, Nov. 28, at 1:30 p. m. at the home and at 2 p. m. at the Steward Point church. Burial was made in the Paynes Point cemetery.

MRS. SCOVILLE PASSES

Mrs. Bertha Scoville, 68, died at 6 p. m. Saturday at her home at 563 South Second street. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. The Rev. Frank A. Campbell will officiate. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery in Chicago.

The daughter of Menzo and Emeline Fuller Coffin, Mrs. Scoville was born May 6, 1870. The Fuller family was one of the first to settle in what is now Hinsdale and for a time that city was known as Fullersville. Bertha Coffin was first married to John Porter and to them six children were born, five of whom are still living. The children are Ford D. Porter, Warrenville, Mark Porter, Chicago, and Arthur, Ashbel, and Earl Porter, Hinsdale. A son, Chester, preceded her in death.

Besides her husband, James P. Scoville, whom she married Oct. 12, 1911, and five sons, she has a brother, George Coffin, Hinsdale; two sisters, Mrs. C. L. Iverson, LaGrange, and Mrs. George E. Reichty, Hinsdale, and a half-brother, Edgar Davis, Hinsdale, and a half-sister, Mrs. Frank Holmes, Downers Grove.

Mrs. Scoville was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Presbyterian church.

LEGION POST NOTES

Following a business meeting in the Legion Hall at which time the new constitution and bylaws of Rochelle Post were given their first reading, the Legionnaires adjourned to Treasure Island, where they were served a two-course roast pork dinner with all the trimmings as guests of Forrest P. Howe, a member of the post.

Rochelle Post now has a membership of 78 for 1936. William Lamb is a patient at Hines hospital. A report from the benefit show showed that it netted $14.93. For the past commander's night Dec. 12, at which Congressman Leo E. Allen was announced and accepted as the guest speaker, it is planned to have an open meeting at which the business and professional men of Rochelle, the press, the Spanish-American war veterans are to be special guests. Congressman Allen will deliver an address on "Americanism." A good old-fashioned oyster stew will be on the menu for refreshments.

Rochelle Post was represented at the 15th district meeting at Stoughton, Sunday, by Commander Fred E. Durin, Raymond C. Pyatt and William Hintsche. Commander Fred E. Durin also attended the Commanders and Adjutants school on Friday and Saturday at Bloomington, attending the Post Adjutants and Finance Officers division meetings. Entertainment at the Legion stag included five three minute boxing bouts arranged by Fred Warming and his co-worker Mr. Lamb from the Boys club. The bouts which were no decision exhibitions included: Johnny Cote vs. Harold Stewart, Freddie Stewart vs. Ronald Hansen, Harold Morrison vs. Billie Burch.

Amos England vs. Ralph Harris, Roger Cote vs. Butch Burright, Sheriff-Elect James White of Oregon was time keeper. Sheriff White announced the selection of his deputies as: Chief deputy, William H. Hungerford, chief of police of Rochelle; Edgar Strough, Oregon; bailiff William A. Johnson of Rochelle. Chief of Police Hungerford tendered his resignation to the City Council at Monday evening's council meeting. The council accepted the resignation with regret but complimented Mr. Hungerford on his promotion.

SECRETS ARE PRIVILEGED FOR EARLY CHRISTMAS SHOPPER

"Secrets are the privilege of the early Christmas Shopper!" says Santa. "Secrets and surprises are the real fun of Christmas shopping."

For there's Merry Christmas in every magic package. And there's the fun of mingling with the first crowds of shoppers when enthusiasm runs full tilt. You bump into friends and neighbors, all laughing and hurrying with their own bundles.

You can choose from an enormous selection of gifts, and the warm thrilling spirit of Christmas is at its best in all the stores. Singing laughter and hurrying steps, and Santa's familiar chuckle rolling out over the squeals of delight from the children.

You've labored far into the night over your Christmas list, humped over the midnight lamp while in every room the same quiet concentration told you that Mom and Dad and Aunt Tillie and Uncle John and Sue and Jimmy and even Nora were laboriously listing and checking and deciding too. Then the fun of shopping!

For six whole weeks you watch the growing pile of presents tucked away in your secret hiding place. A hundred times you look at each gift, and a hundred times you check your list again! Read the ads in today's issue of the Dixon Evening Telegraph. They're your invitation to begin the thrill of shopping—they're really more than your invitation to begin the thrill of shopping—they're renewed faith and new happiness. They're the city of Dixon forging ahead with the new spirit.

During the first 5000 miles or so, the air pressure in new tires should be checked frequently, since it is during this period that the tire expands slightly. If kept inflated to the correct pressure, the tire will be "broken in" properly.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc., Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND."

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. This immensely important question has been studied by Frances Rodgers, Iowa University psychologist. Competent judges rated the art work of school children and then rated their home environment—art books, pictures, type of furniture in the home, opportunities to visit art galleries, etc. They found that the best and worst artists were just as likely to come from one environment as the other. There are probably enough beautiful objects everywhere, such as plants, streams, trees, landscapes, clouds, sunsets, etc., to stimulate any artistic talent a child may have.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, there is a very strong tendency in human nature to do this—much stronger in some persons than in others. The psychologists call it "projection"—projecting our own faults upon others. Often a husband becomes jealous of his wife and interprets every notice she takes of another man as a flirtation whereas he is the one who is constantly casting eyes at other women. And vice versa. A boss is grouchy and irritable and claims his employees are obstreperous. And so on. Just watch yourself, and you may be surprised at how often you are working overtime at his "projection" business.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. As related by Sydney N. Newhall, Johns Hopkins psychologist, a man was starting to cross the street and looked to the left, then to the right. He saw nothing coming from the left, but by chance took another look as he stepped forward and, as he changed his location, he saw a car almost upon him. He did not see the car the first time, apparently because it was in the blind spot of his left eye, which should have seen it, and his nose prevented the right eye from seeing it. Dr. Newhall thinks many accidents may come because one's nose or spectacle frame or wind shield frame may prevent the clear eye from seeing the dangerous object while it is in the area of the blind spot of the other eye.

WILSON RETURN TO BERLIN WILL NOT BE HURRIED

Ambassador's Sailing to Depend on Developments in Germany

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 30 — (AP)—President Roosevelt's apparent intention to await developments abroad before deciding on resumption of full diplomatic relations with Germany stood out here today as the most concrete development from the conference on oppressed minorities in central Europe.

The chief executive told a roadside press conference late yesterday that Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson would not return to his Berlin post at present. He added, however, that the career diplomat was right when he objected to terming his stay in Washington "indefinite."

Wilson, who was summoned when rioting against Jews broke out in Germany, and William Phillips, ambassador to Italy, conferred at the "little White House" here Sunday and Monday. The president said Phillips, home on leave, would sail about December 10 to return to his post.

All the president would say about his week-end diplomatic talks was that he made a general check-up of the racial and religious persecutions abroad.

Soviet Post Vacant

He said he did not know when he would fill the diplomatic vacancy at Moscow caused by last summer's transfer of Ambassador Joseph E. Davis from Soviet Russia to Belgium and volunteered that Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain who has been active in refugee negotiations abroad, would return to the United States soon on leave. Reports that William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, was coming to Warm Springs from a vacation in Nassau, Bahamas, were not confirmed here, but officials said if he did it would be a courtesy visit.

Lost Boys Found

"We're awfully sorry, Daddy," said Tom and Bill, two mainly little fellows, ages 5 and 6, who were discovered today "lost" in Toyland. "We just forgot to meet you because we got to checking up with Santa Claus!" As their indulgent father and smiling clerks looked on, the boys allowed themselves to be "interviewed" on the results of their survey of the Dixon toy departments. It was one of the amusing incidents of the busy day in local stores, when more than one eager youngster strayed from parental observation to make his own advance survey of the prospects for a "big" Christmas this year.

SEVERAL NEW ARMY AIR BASES SOUGHT IN DEFENSE PLANS

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's defense program, military circles heard today, may include the establishment of new army air bases at several of the nation's strategic outposts.

Officials said the president may ask congress for funds to build bases in New England, Florida and Alaska in connection with the projected expansion of the army air fleet.

A special war department official board already has inspected possible sites in New Hampshire, and advocates of a base in Florida to protect the Caribbean and the Panama Canal have been especially active since Roosevelt declared that national defense involved the entire western hemisphere.

An aerial inspection trip to Alaska last summer by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, produced a hint that the high command again might seek funds for the long-projected Alaskan base.

Meanwhile, comments by returning members of congress indicated that national defense will be the subject of lively discussion at the next session.

Rep. Engel (R-Mich), estimating that a 10,000-plane air force would cost as much each year as either the army or navy, asserted that if congress was to provide such a fleet "we should go into it with our eyes open as to the cost."

(Congress gave the navy $588,000,000 for the current fiscal year, and the army received about $461,000,000.)

"I'm not saying we do not need such an air force, because I am not in a position to judge the international dangers," Engel said. He is a member of the subcommittee on military appropriations and was an army officer in the World War.

HECTIC SCRAMBLES AT LAST MINUTES CAN BE AVOIDED

You are all familiar with the awful, hectic scramble that usually catches even the best of us during those few short days before Christmas morning finally dawns. Your list clutched in your feverish hand, you rush frantically through the stores in search of those perfect handkerchiefs for Aunt Mollie and the right shade of tie for Uncle John.

And what happens? The handkerchief stock is soiled and anyway, there isn't a single one that Aunt Mollie would think of lifting to her dainty nose. All of Uncle John's suits are brown and the tie supply is definitely blue with a few soiled and sad purples mixed in. So you swear softly beneath your breath and select a box of candy for Auntie, who is too fat already, and a pair of socks for your uncle, in the wrong size because you can't remember what the proper size is.

It's not an entertaining picture, to be sure, but it is undoubtedly a familiar one. There is, however, a ray of light, for a moral hangs to his tale. It is simply: SHOP EARLY! The early bird catches the items he wants and all with no fuss and to-do.

Stocks Fresh
Stock is fresh and unhandled. The supply is complete. The clerks have not harassed expression you know so well. And you will be considered the finest Santa Claus that ever piled presents beneath a Christmas tree.

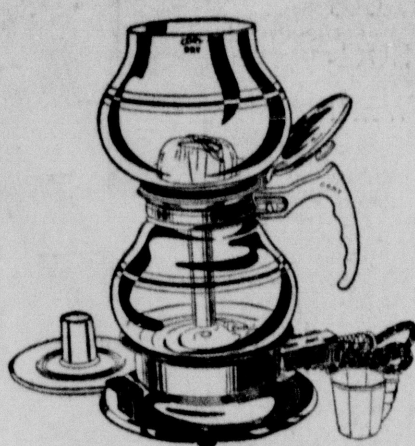

Of course, human nature is weak and it's so much easier to put off into an indefinite future. But the trouble with that theory is that the future has a way of sneaking up on you, becoming all of a sudden the present. And there you'll be again—fighting crowds, hunting frantically through your pockets for your lists and scowling at tired and cross clerks who are ordinarily perfectly nice, respectable people.

So sit down right now, make out your list, go down to the stores and BUY THOSE PRESENTS. Then Christmas morning will find you calm and collected, and you can sit down on the floor and with perfect peace of mind go at the business of playing with Junior's electric train.

Tiny South American opossums sometimes are found in newly unpacked bananas, and oftentimes, no doubt, are destroyed without their true identity becoming known, so nearly do they resemble common mice.

Not all salmon spend their lives alternately in fresh and salt water. In the state of Maine, in Canada and in Norway, there are landlocked salmon that spend their entire lives in fresh water.

CORY Royal Coffee Maker

This newly designed coffee maker has many unusual features. The lower bowl has a 3-inch wide neck for easy washing. The easy-grip handle, funnel holder and measuring cup are all matched ivory bakelite. Lower center of gravity gives more modern appearance and greater stability.

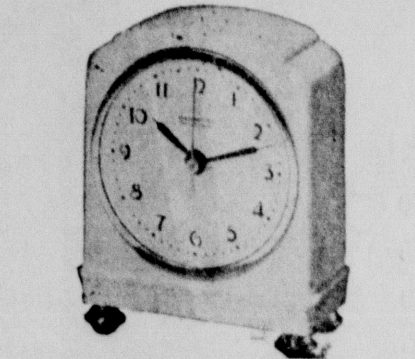

Complete with 2-heat electric table stove, hinged decanter cover, cloth filter and also glass rod filter, funnel holder, measuring cup, heat resisting Corning glass. 8 cup size.

Westinghouse Waffle Iron

This attractive waffle-baker is finished in heavy chrome plate with polished black handles and mar-proof fibre feet. Heat indicator tells when to pour batter to prevent sticking.

Top and bottom heating elements are scientifically matched to insure even browning on both sides of waffle. Special hinge cover prevents batter from getting into hinges, simplifies cleaning. Extra wide tray base catches any batter overflow. Large grids are 7 1/2 inches in diameter.

Shopping With Santa

A Peek at Santa's Advance Gift List Will Help Solve Your Gift Problems

"Operator, get me Mr. Claus at North Pole 1938. Yes, I'll hold the wire. Hello, hello, Mr. Claus. I'm a reporter on the Dixon Evening Telegraph and I have an idea that might help a lot of folks who have a hard time thinking up gifts for you to bring their friends. I thought it would be nice if you could send me one of your typical advance gift lists. You will! That will be fine, and we'll publish it the moment it arrives. Thanks a lot. Goodbye and good sleighing, Mr. Claus."

Needless to say, the ingenuity of our reporter, in obtaining a copy of Santa's Advance Gift List, will prove invaluable to the hundreds of shoppers who are right now working on their own Christmas Gift Lists. It has just arrived. Take it with you and go shopping with Santa tomorrow.

FOR MOTHER: A new vase set for the mantle or the dresser. Delightful little china or glass vases in all kinds of amusing shades, tinted lovely colors.

FOR SISTER: Bridge sets of candy dishes, ash trays, playing cards, and score pads. They're all bright and amusing, and in the gay party spirit.

FOR DAD: A new shaving kit and overnight case combined, all in the top of a hairbrush! It's called the "Pullman" set, for Dad when he's traveling.

FOR AUNT MARY: A covered silver-plated vegetable dish and tray combined, because she loves to serve nice hot dishes when you go visiting her.

FOR BILL: A new desk set that looks like leather, but isn't nearly so expensive. They come in dark rich brown or green, with smart decorations.

FOR A FRIEND: A candy jar in crystal with a pretty lid. It's a perfect gift for the hostess who loves to entertain in the newer manner, at home.

FOR GRANDMA: A new aluminum "serving oven" with a lid, which keeps rolls hot.

FOR ELAINE: A fine metal and glass picture frame, with the baby's picture in it.

FOR A GIRL FRIEND: A dainty perfume jar, or atomizer, with a lovely flower to wear in her hair, all wrapped up in pretty Christmas box.

FOR AUNTIE: A scissor set, in its own case, because no one ever has enough scissors.

FOR JIMMIE: A set of amusing games, each neatly boxed, to keep him home nights.

FOR A NEIGHBOR: A lovely gift basket filled with fruits and candies, just for fun.

FOR A BACHELOR: A set of beverage glasses and tray, for informal entertaining.

FOR A BRIDE: A lovely crystal bowl and flower holders—very, very new for the table.

FOR DAD'S DESK: A real reading lamp that won't strain his eyes for night work.

FOR JUNIOR: A real atlas that sits on the living room table, for fascinating hours.

FOR MOTHER: A set of silver-plated turquoise, for soups or sauces "for company."

FOR GRANDMA: A pair of wall hanging flower pot holders, in gay colors.

FOR ME: A whole bath set, with spicy fragrant soap, bath oil, bath powder—done up in a modest flowered box that isn't expensive.

St. Patrick's Club Has Dinner Meeting

A scramble dinner, followed by a short business meeting and an evening of cards, provided a pleasant party for members of St. Patrick's Women's club last night in St. Mary's hall. About 100 guests were seated at the long dinner tables.

Mothers of seventh grade students, with Mrs. Philip Bondi as chairman, composed the committee. Mrs. Bondi's co-hostesses included Mrs. David James, Mrs. Philip Reilly, Mrs. Otto Kestner, and Mrs. Charles Hanson.

Mrs. William Loftus and Mrs. William Odenthal won honors in bridge. Mrs. Michael Reilly and Mrs. Kime received prizes in 500, and guest favors went to Mrs. Willard Jones and Mrs. William Kennedy.

Mrs. Iva Callahan, the club president, conducted the business meeting. Brother Philbert, C. S. C., who represents the Ave Maria from Notre Dame, Ind., was among the out of town guests.

L. OF W. V. HAS ARMAMENT STUDY

A comprehensive discussion of "Armaments" was given by the Rev. Father C. Norman Burke at Monday evening's meeting of the League of Women Voters at the home of Miss Franc Ingraham. A forum was conducted, following the talk.

"Our International Relations" is the League's study topic for the season.

Phidian Art Club Studies Evolution of World's Homes

Evolution of homes in different countries of the world was traced for Phidian Art club members yesterday afternoon in a paper on "Caves, Castles and Cathedrals" by Mrs. George C. Dixon. Miss Josephine M. Nichols was hostess.

For centuries, Mrs. Dixon said, the bushmen of Africa had the most primitive homes, and the Egyptians stood at the apex of civilization. "The homes of the wealthy in every age and among all peoples show domestic luxury," she told her listeners, "while those of the poor, only the necessities of life. The over-furnishing of homes in the Victorian period was due to the development of factories."

The first bath tub in America incurred the displeasure of both clergy and doctors, Mrs. Dixon stated.

Bronze chrysanthemums were attractive on the tea table. Mrs. John N. Weiss poured.

CHRISTMAS PLAY

A Christmas play, "Led by the Star," will be presented at the December meeting for the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the church. Mrs. J. N. Weiss will be in charge of the production.

The cast of characters includes: Mother—Mrs. A. I. Hardy.

Ruth, her daughter—Mrs. C. A. Thomas.

Betty, another daughter—Jean Weiss.

Grandmother—Mrs. Clara Shawyer.

Maxine Coleman, a missionary—Mildred Ransom.

Marguerite Deyo, a missionary—Flora Seals.

Louise Landon, a missionary—Mrs. E. M. Gobert.

Mary Shaw, a missionary—Mrs. H. W. Leydig.

Spirit of Love—Mrs. A. E. Marth.

Spirit of Faith—Mrs. H. P. Buxton.

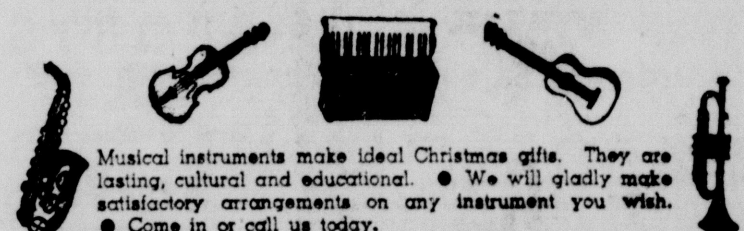

Spirit of Peace—Mrs. Philip Hopkins.

Planning Two Bridge Parties

Tomorrow and Friday will see friends of Mrs. Howard M. Edwards and Mrs. Arthur Bowers making up tables for bridge play at the Edwards home, 822 Chula Vista.

Preceding cards, there will be a one o'clock luncheon on both occasions. Seven forenoon have been invited for both afternoons.

Perfumes Takes on Scent of Christmas Season; Do Some Testing Before Purchasing

This seems to be open season on perfume. Within the last few weeks, practically every well known cosmetics house has brought out a new scent. Described variously by their creators as spicy, sweet, sophisticated, haunting, different of whatever, they really are enough to inspire even the most procrastinating person to do at least some Christmas shopping early.

If you are buying perfume for yourself and want to try something new, do a reasonable amount of testing before you make a final decision. And you can't tell by sniffing the stopper or around the stopper what the scent is going to be like once you get it on your skin.

Put a drop on your wrist, or have the salesgirl spray a bit on your throat. Now go about your shopping in another department. If you haven't any shopping to do, at least walk away from the perfume counter. You cannot judge accurately whether or not you really like the spicy odor you contemplate buying if you are standing near the cosmetics counter or between two other customers, one of whom is trying a sweet scent on her wrist, the other a mixed bouquet or some sort.

If, after a fair trial, you still aren't certain or if you have a vague idea that your husband or the children or sweetheart won't like the new perfume, buy a dram if it's sold in bulk, otherwise the smallest bottle possible. Generally speaking, you get more for your money when you buy a large bottle, but if you aren't sure, a little one is a safer purchase. You can always go back for more.

There used to be a prejudice against spraying perfume on furs, but, apparently, it is on the wane. Ever so many women of excellent taste do perfume their furs—subtly, of course.

State Historian to Address D. A. R.'s

Mrs. John E. Kemp of Kewanee, state historian of Daughters of the American Revolution, is to be guest speaker at the December meeting of the Dixon chapter Saturday afternoon. Mrs. J. B. Lennon and the Misses Clara and Dorothy Armstrong will be entertaining at 2:30 o'clock.

The program has been planned in observance of "Ellis Island Day."

Between 10:45 and 11 a. m. on Saturday, a program featuring "The Activities of Illinois Women Then and Now," will be broadcast from radio station WBBM, under auspices of the Illinois society, D. A. R. The program has been prepared in conjunction with the Chicago Historical society, and is in keeping with the Women's Almanac series.

SECOND YEAR

A birthday cake, rising three tiers high and decorated in green and yellow, was shared by Master Jerre Lee Shaver at his second birthday party on Saturday. Jerre Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Shaver, of 212 West Tenth street.

Gifts were brought by the guests, who were Anne Chapman, Judy Rintoul, Joyce Louise Walker, Martha Sue and Sherron Lee Hopkins, Joanne Hartzell, Lois Starks, Mary Ellen Ventler, Dolores Newman, Rex Cason, Ronnie LaFever, Roger Lee Huffman, Ivan Toland, Miss Evelyn and

Bridge Club Has Turkey Dinner

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lievan, east of Dixon, was last night's destination for members of a Tuesday evening bridge group, who were enjoying a turkey dinner before making up tables for auction. Steaming covered dishes brought by the members added variety to the dinner menu.

In the evening's card games, prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leydig, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goeke.

Mrs. Ethel Brookner will entertain in two weeks.

STUDY CLUB

Members of St. Anne's study club resumed their regular meetings on Monday evening, with Mrs. E. S. Murphy as hostess. Mrs. Edward Langan was introduced as leader for the year, and outlined a tentative program.

The Rev. Father C. W. Caine, spiritual director of the club, gave the invocation. Mrs. Irene Kreitzer, the retiring leader, summarized achievements of the group during the past year.

A social hour followed the business meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Hill, 222 Everett street, on Monday evening, Dec. 5. The second Monday evening of each month is to be the regular meeting date.

Perfume Tree

This Christmas tree, which comes complete with electric cord and tiny lights, is trimmed with eleven little flacons of good perfume.

Friday evening. The program is to include musical numbers, a Christmas playlet, and a history demonstration by the pupils. Members, patrons, and their friends are invited.

TO FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sullivan will be on their way southward tomorrow. They plan to spend the winter in Miami, Fla.

Dixon Wa-Tan-Yans Have Benefit Party

Bridge, both contract and auction, and Chinese checkers occupied 21 guests attending a benefit card party for Dixon Wa-Tan-Yans and their friends last evening. The Misses Martha and Alice Meppin were entertaining at their home on North Galena avenue.

Miss Ruby Nattress, Mrs. L. C. Shoaf, Miss Lois Stimmel, and Miss Esther Winders were unwrapping score favors at the close of the evening's games. Refreshments were served, following play.

Circling the tables were Mrs. W. C. Elifson, Mrs. L. C. Shoaf, Mrs. Lawrence Poole, Mrs. James M. Miley, Mrs. Helen Shickley, and the Misses Ruby Nattress, Helen Joyce, Avis Toot, Katherine Sullivan, Savilla Palmer, Frances Patrick, Retta Keithley, Milla Wahnke, Marie Kelly, Helen Nagle, Leone Ortt, Margaret Minnihan, Esther Winders, Lois Stimmel, and the hostesses.

ADDRESSES AMBOY CLUB

Chicago Livestock

Chicago, Nov. 30—(AP)—Sales were resumed for a brief period at the Chicago stock yards today under an agreement with striking C. I. O. handlers.
Approximately 4,000 animals, stranded in the pens during the stalemate were led to the weighing chutes.
The temporary truce covered trading in these cattle, hogs and sheep only. It was arranged to allow commission men to clear the corrals.
Meanwhile, some 19,000 head of livestock were received at the yards but most of them were sent directly to packing houses.
Neither side made any move to settle the dispute now in its tenth day—pending a resumption of negotiations next Monday.
Hogs 12,000 all direct; trade confined entirely to disposal of accumulated supplies; heavy arrivals all on direct billing; market mostly 5 to 10 higher than Tuesday.
Nov. 22; good and choice 190-1340 lbs averaged 7.50 to 7.70; largely 7.60 to 7.65; few good medium weight and heavy packing sows 7.25 to 7.40.
Cattle 1,000; calves 100, today's cleanup cattle trade strong to 25 higher; very uneven, however; bulk crop accumulated during recent labor dispute; mostly show rejects selling at 11.75 to 13.25; extreme top 13.80 paid for 1,306 lbs averages; few loads 13.50 to 7.75; best yearlings 13.15; sprinkling regular commercial steers at 8.50 to 11.50; best mixed yearlings 11.50; cutter cows 4.00 to 5.00; sprinkling fat cows 5.50 to 6.50 with best around 7.00; very few heifers in run, mostly common and medium grades at 8.00 down to 6.00; bulls 6.25 down, mainly steady; vealers steady at 9.00 to 10.50; active demand stockers and feeders; sprinkling common and medium grades 6.50 to 7.50; good to choice offering 8.00 to 9.00; general market active.
Sheep 6,000, all direct; scarcely enough sheep and lambs on sale, holdovers included to make a comprehensive market; supply comprised principally of small lots of native lambs and limited number show rejects; native lambs to packers mostly 9.00 down, occasionally as low as 8.00; extreme top to packers 9.50 paid sparingly for sorted high yielding consignments; short deck medium to

PLANE DISASTER
CAUSED BY RADIO
BEING TOO GOOD

Rescuers Seek Bodies of Four Men and Woman
on Pacific Beach

San Francisco, Nov. 30—(AP)—In the churning surf off Point Reyes, the gloomy search was resumed today for the bodies of four men and a young woman who met death yesterday through a strange, new hazard to aviation.

Officials gravely studied the queer phenomenon of "too good" radio reception which so confused the pilot of a Seattle-San Francisco United Airlines plane he became lost and had to bring the transport down on the sea when it ran out of gasoline. One said the phenomenon had occurred just three times, and never before had caused an accident.

Added to the grief of the five victims' families was the knowledge that had the plane occupants remained in the cabin instead of scrambling to the top of the fuselage "for safety," they probably would have reached shore without injury. The cabin of the wrecked and battered airliner was dry when it was finally washed ashore. The pilot and one passenger survived.

Roster of Dead

The dead:

Ivan B. Heflebower, San Francisco bond broker.

Sydney L. Shonts, San Jose, Calif. WPA engineer, whose daughter, Martha, said tearfully he had promised her "never to fly."

Co-pilot Lloyd Jones, 30, of Seattle, whose wife, Mrs. Eleanor C. Jones, hopped a plane and flew to Oakland as soon as she heard of the crash, only to be met by word all hope of his safety was gone.

Frona Clay, 24-year-old stewardess, who helped everybody out of the fuselage and made her way to shore, only to be swept back into the sea when she dodged the careening plane wing as it swept by.

The survivors:

Capt. Charles Stead, 42, veteran pilot who gave a full and harrowing account of the tragedy.

To Begin New Life

Passenger Isadore Edelstein, 51, paroled Washington state convict bound for Honolulu to begin a new life.

Dispatched to the scene by the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington was a board of inquiry headed by Thomas O. Hardin, member of the CAA safety board.

Their task, as a United States Airlines official expressed it, will be "to make formal findings about what everybody now already knows was the cause of the accident."

"The poor pilot just got so many short wave stations he couldn't sort them out," the official said. "The Oakland airport did send out instructions to clear the air until the plane got its correct bearings, but it was too late then, for he was already far off his course, with gasoline fast dwindling."

Couldn't Pick Beam

"It was one of those perfect nights when every radio signal was coming in strong," explained Pilot Stead. "You could have called a friend in Australia and recognized his voice Portland and Salt Lake were coming in stronger than Sacramento. There was such a hodge-podge of radio beam signals we couldn't pick out our own to follow."

Only a few minutes before the landing did the passengers learn they were in any danger. Stewardess "Bobby" Clay told them they were about to make an emergency landing on the water and advised taking off coats and shoes.

"We all went through the hatch," related Passenger Edelstein, "and I helped some up onto the top of the ship I sat alongside the pilot. He was a fine mar. Once, a wave pushed me into the water and I yelled for help. He reached down and pulled me up. "Everybody else went off before the pilot and I went into the water. We swam ashore. It was a tough swim, but we made it. I don't know just how."

More than half the value of U. S. imports of agricultural products is in non-competitive items like coffee, tea, cocoa, raw silk, rubber, bananas, spices.

Of the 1937 tobacco crop of 1,555,328,000 pounds, North Carolina accounted for 595,530,000 pounds; Virginia for 107,276,000 and Kentucky for 366,160,000.

U. S. imports of agricultural products, except forest products and distilled liquors, have averaged $1,582,000,000 annually for the past 16 years.

SO. CALIF. FINDS
NOTRE DAME BETTER
TOPIC FOR TALKING

Los Angeles, Nov. 30—(AP)—Southern California's football chieftains, praised and denounced for inviting Duke to the Rose Bowl, side-tracked further discussion on the matter today and pointed to the coming battle with Notre Dame as something better to talk about.

The encounter, 13th annual clash between the two universities, commands the top spot of the nation's fading football season next Saturday. About 95,000 fans were expected to attend the game.

For the Irish, undefeated, untied and marching on to claim the mythical national grid championship, the engagement offers a chance to knock over the far west's entry in the big Pasadena post-season game.

The outcome will have no bearing on Southern California's appearance in the Rose Bowl, but a Notre Dame victory would again splinter the far west's record, U. S. C. having been beaten twice this season.

A Trojan triumph, however, would restore immeasurable prestige to football in the Pacific coast conference.

The series at present stands: Notre Dame, seven victories; S. C. four and one tie. On the basis of the teams' records this year, with S. C. loser to Alabama and Washington, and Notre Dame wading through one of the most difficult schedules in the land with never a defeat, the Irish should be favored to win.

IRISH EN ROUTE

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 30—(AP)—Notre Dame's fighting Irish, en route to Los Angeles for an inter-sectional football game with Southern California Saturday, will pay their eighth practice visit to the University of Arizona gridiron today.

Coach Elmer Layden notified Arizona athletic officials the Ramblers, 36 strong, would run through a public drill soon after detaining this morning.

Layden will lock the gates for an afternoon drill and two Thursday sessions before boarding a train for Yuma, Ariz., where the Irish will go through a short limbering up workout Friday morning.

METHODIST UNIFICATION

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 30—(AP)—Meeting in utmost harmony today the three branches of Methodism considered problems of unification. More than 1,300 Methodists dined last night with bishops and leaders of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church. The three churches will meet next spring in Kansas City, Mo., in a unification conference which leaders believe will join the sections in one church.

LOST BY ONE VOTE

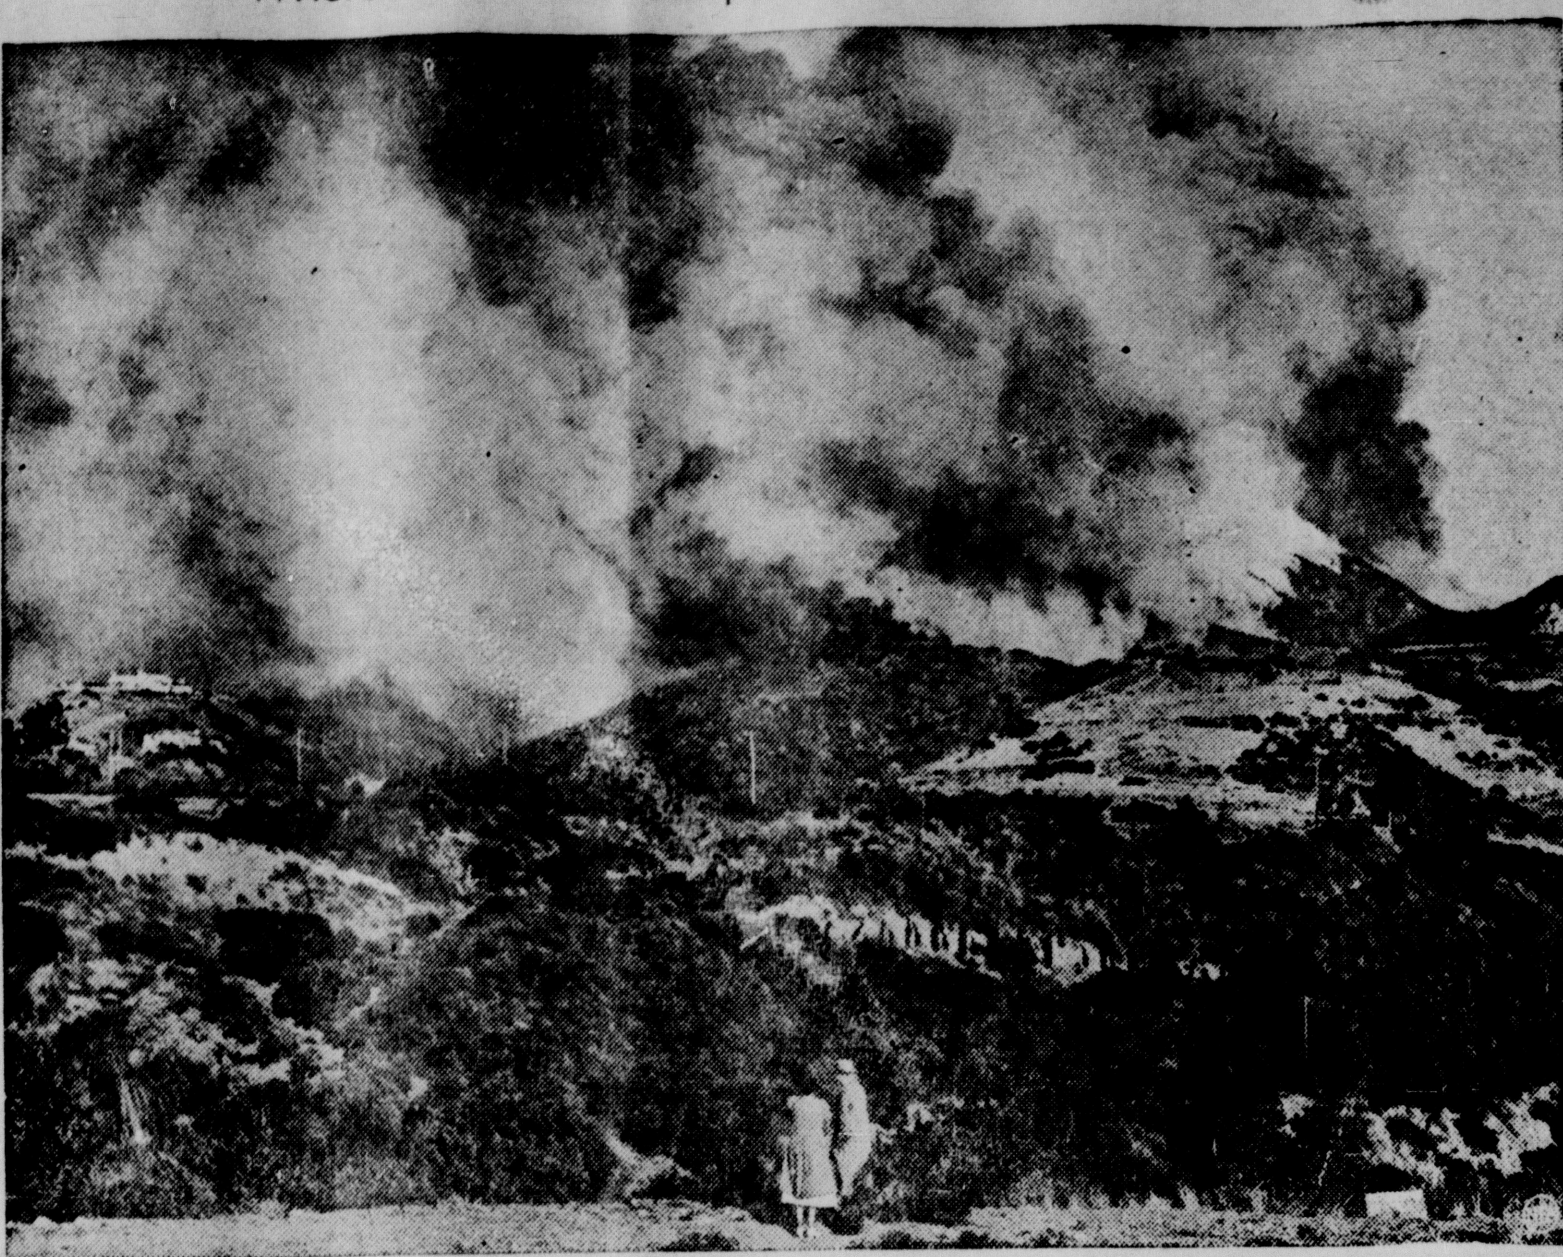

McLeansboro, Ill., Nov. 30—(AP)—M. L. Hunt, Hamilton county superintendent of schools for the last 16 years who was defeated for re-election Nov. 8 by six votes, has asked for a recount. Hunt, a Democrat, charges irregularities in ballot counting. He lost to Robert Wilson, Republican.

HEARING POSTPONED

Chicago, Nov. 30—(AP)—A scheduled hearing on a proposal to bar trucks from the highways of the state over weekends was postponed until Jan. 11 by the Illinois Commerce Commission today. The continuance was granted at the request of Richard Abrams, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Charge Texan Killed
Chinaman Over a Shirt

Indianapolis, Nov. 30—(AP)—George Franklin Matthews, 57, of Houston, Tex., will go on trial here next Tuesday on a murder charge in the slaying of Yip Lung, 75-year-old Chinese laundryman, July 2, 1934.

Lung was shot to death in his shop here. Authorities said the slayer was a customer who claimed he had given the Chinaman three shirts and got back only two.

Matthews, indicated a month after the shooting, was arrested in Houston in December, 1937.

St. Louis Cards to Halt
Annual Spring Classes

St. Louis, Nov. 30—(AP)—President Sam Bredon of the St. Louis Cardinals said today the club would discontinue, for next spring at least, its annual spring baseball training classes.

Last spring, a number of young Cardinal players, raw recruits and minor league "farm boys" attended a training camp for two months at Winter Haven, Fla., before the regular camp opened at St. Petersburg.

Cardinal training for the 1939 season will be at St. Petersburg under the club's new manager, Ray Blades.

MEN ARE SIMPLY GROWNUP BOYS AT CHRISTMAS TIME

Even though you get a bit hot under the collar every time you hear somebody say again that "men are just little boys," you'll have to admit that they are at Christmas time. And so are the great majority of women "just little girls" when it comes to the kind of Christmas present that amuse or have something to do with their hobbies or will make entertaining more fun.

Sh'll be pleased with linens and amps and other gadgets for her home, and clothes and accessories for herself, of course, but mother might like some new golf clubs, a couple of books written by a expert on her particular hobby, or a dozen packs of monogrammed playing cards or an album of records for the victrola more than you suspect.

Among other gifts and gadgets that the Lady of the House might find entertaining are: A gayly printed gardening apron with small but practical shears and similar implements in many pockets; a market basket of de luxe tulip bulbs; an Early American bird cage for her canary with honey-maple frame and pewter bars or an assortment of queer looking tropical plants in a huge glass jug.

Gold Widows Can Keep Husbands Home

What to give a man is one woman's principal Christmas worry. Well, if he's an indoor sportsman, how about these?

An indoor putting device with rotating turn-tables to furnish interesting problems for golfers; an indoor archery set with suction-captivated arrows, a folding poker table with chip pockets for eight players, a cloth fitting any bridge table with a new game combining the best points of rummy, poker, pinochle, and Michigan, a home badminton game resembling a pag pong layout.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS
FOR EVERY MEMBER OF FAMILY AND DOG

No matter how many dolls she orders, a new party dress or a ski suit will please the tiniest girl in the family.

Much as she loves beautiful linens and gadgets for her home, mother wants to find underwear and stockings or jewelry or a new housecoat.

Father hopes Santa Claus will bring socks and a sweater, a smoking jacket, neckties and a new bathrobe, as well as something nice for his desk and a few items that have to do with his favorite hobby.

Gifts to wear will make every member of the family happy on Christmas morning. Even the puppy will show barking delight at the sight of one of the new raincoats for dogs—light as a feather and designed to stay on while he chases cats.

To the Ladies—
Merry Christmas!
With the women in your home, new nightgowns that look for all the world like dinner and evening dresses are a Christmas delight. Incidentally, the new underwear that was handmade in Puerto Rico is sure to make a double hit—with her—because all women love handmade lingerie, and with you, because it costs so much less.

Christmas jewelry is new this year. Give her a chateau piece or a bar pin to wear on her lapel. Or a quaint necklace to wear with her off-the-shoulder or strapless evening gown. She's sure to like a hat pin, earrings, and jeweled combs for her hair.

Evening sweaters and blouses of various types to wear with her floor-length dinner skirt will be appreciated. A white tweed evening wrap with gold sequin embroidery glistening on the lapel is a wonderful idea. Among others are: A simply tailored housecoat of purple lame and one of dull gold wool with black velvet sash; a bedjacket of softest maribou (in any color); a bedjacket of soft, washable flannel with a little girl collar and long, full sleeves, gathered into a band at wrists; mules of wine and silver plaid lame; more practical bedroom slippers of dull soft kid with wool linings.

The newest glove is a three-dimensional affair with a U-turned wall that runs from thumb around the fingers and down the side, and allows the fingers complete freedom. If you send stockings, be sure to specify whether she is tall, short or of medium height.

Recalls Palmy Days of Spiritualism laundry for profit, while allegations were made that the township administrator in Schuyler county was short in his accounts. The IERC decided not to send the December allotment of $291 until a successor was appointed.

Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the IERC and commissioner of the Chicago Relief Administration, warned the city council's finance committee that Chicago was approaching another minor relief crisis.

He estimated that there will be 99,500 cases, or family groups on the CRA rolls during December and that $3,686,676 would be needed for their relief. The city, he said, would have only $3,635,000 to meet the demands provided it uses all of its own funds of $1,085,000 and $2,555,000 from state funds.

The IERC December allotment for the city, however, was $2,631,536. This would leave a balance of $80,000 in Chicago funds for January relief, until the city council can add 1939 city money to the regular monthly allotment from the state. The allotment for Cook county was $2,797,537.

Off All Things! Auto
Deaths Lead in Navy

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—It's not the sea that claims the most lives of sailors in the United States navy, but—of all landlubber things—the automobile.

The fatality figures for last year were discussed today: Deaths from drowning—43. From automobile accidents—67. With the exception of 1933, motor-vehicle accidents have been the leading cause of accidental deaths in the navy for the last seven years.

Until 1930, drowning was the principal cause, but now sailors are taught to swim.

A total of 4,221,399,000 American-made cigarettes valued at $8,127,226 were exported during the first eight months of 1933, a gain of about 15 per cent over the same period of 1932.

U. S. exports of farm products in the past 16 years has averaged $1,320,000 annually, and since 1929 have fallen 35 per cent below the 16 year average.

TEXAS AND ARIZONA
MOST INTERESTING
SAY MOVIE-MAKERS

Hollywood, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The most interesting states in the union, from a movie-maker's standpoint, are routine' tootin' Texas and Arizona.

Kentucky, the land of the blue grass, runs a good third.

Shut out, almost complete, are Pennsylvania, Michigan, Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Kansas.

Bob Burns, the drawing comic who's been busy this season in "The Arkansas Traveler" and "I'm For Missouri," completed a survey today showing that states of the wild west are mentioned most often in movie titles.

"I wouldn't want to hurt anybody's feelings by suggesting that his home state lacks box-office appeal," Burns said, "but there's a mighty lot of states that have never had pictures named after them."

Texas and Arizona shine oftenest on theater marquees, the comedian's research indicated, because of the steady output of cowboy thrillers.

Because Kentucky suggests horse racing and horse racing suggests melodrama of the photofinish sort, the blue grass state leads all others in Dixie as movie title material.

"I don't think it's up to me to revolutionize the business of naming pictures," Burns concluded, "but I wonder what would happen if they tried experimenting with titles like 'In Old Kansas,' or 'A Man from Michigan,' or maybe 'The Fighting Illini.'"

Surplus of Diapers in Rockford Reported

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 30.—(AP)—If the Russian Soviet government is interested, there is a surplus of diapers in Rockford township.

Recent dispatches from Moscow told of a diaper shortage.

Supervisor Melvin C. Smith said unless the WPA sewing project stops making diapers Rockford township will not sponsor the work after Dec. 10.

He said he had more than 10,000 diapers on hand and every baby in a relief family was already well supplied.

TOYS ESSENTIAL TO PROPER HOLI-DAY OBSERVANCE

Of course, Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without toys. And the toy-makers have done themselves proud this year.

For Junior and his little sister, there's a kit of radio sound effects with which the youngsters can produce the sound of thunder, galloping hoofs, cracking flames, and raindrops with authentic radio technique.

Also new for children are: A playroom organ with four octaves and perfect pitch; a rotating printing press with rubber type and a flat bed model with regulation metal type, both of which will print posters, cards, and tabloid newspapers.

Consider too—a toy cash register with recording tape; a miniature vacuum cleaner; an electric pencil for etching on wood, leather or cork; a performing circus that can be set up in 20 different acts; a miniature electric train system for the apartment dweller's child; an elevator type coal chute operated by remote control that loads and unloads coal realistically.

There's a tractor in pedal car size for the first time. And a mysterious street car that starts when you press a spot on its roof.

Among the most exciting dolls is, expectedly enough, Snow White. With her, you can give some favorite little girl all seven of the dwarfs—small and made of rubber or large and stuffed with cotton.

Admits Theft of $8000
To Provide for "Blonde"

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Richard Dalton, 35, who police said confessed embezzling $8,000 from the lumber company where he was employed as a cashier, awaited arraignment today in felony court.

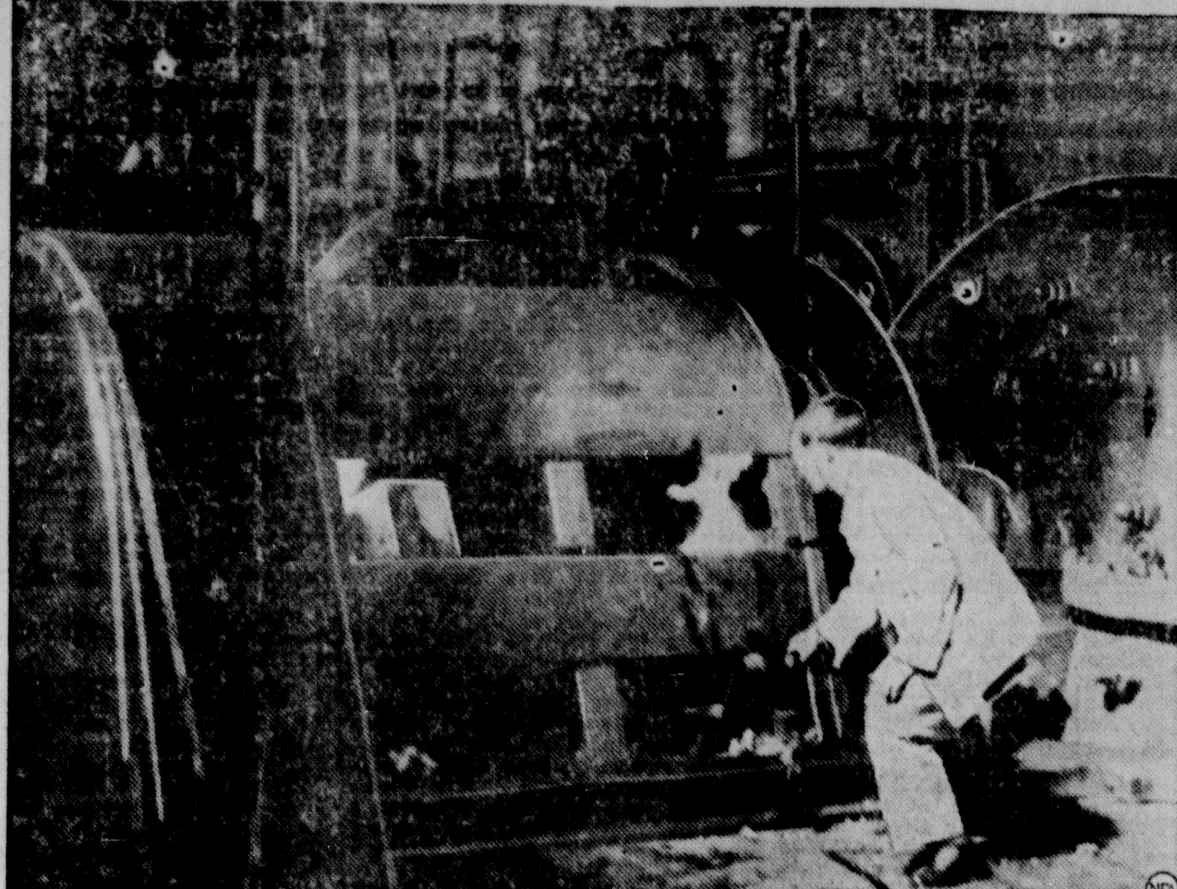

Lieut. Tom Kelly of the state's attorney's police said Dalton admitted taking the money over a period of ten months from the Ashland Lumber Company and spent it to buy clothes and entertain a "swell blonde."

While Dalton remained in jail police searched for the girl, who Kelly said was named "Lois." Kelly said the landlady at Lois' apartment building told police "the pretty little blonde" had moved Sunday night and had left a message for Dalton: "Just tell him I have gone, probably to Arizona."

Italian imports of unmanufactured tobacco the first six months of 1933 were valued at 18,361,000 lire compared with 5,079,000 lire in the first half of 1932.

WRITTEN PLAN OF
CHRISTMAS MEAL
WORKS OUT WELL

For the sake of your beauty, not to mention your charm, about the best Christmas present you can give your self right now is a small notebook on the first pages of which you write a kind of plan. A plan which, if carried out, will guarantee that you'll arrive at Christmas dinner poised, smooth-skinned and starry-eyed instead of jittery with face drawn and eyes dull from the strain, mental and physical, of Christmas preparations.

You've heard it until you probably are bored to death with the very idea of being told to do your shopping early. But the fact remains that if you leave it until the last week, you're likely to be too tired between Christmas and New Year's to enjoy parties or old friends or even the family reunion.

This, then, is the time to order your cards and select wrapping paper, ribbons and the like. Counters of this type of merchandise become more and more congested later on, as you very well know from past sad experiences. And, no later than next week, begin choosing gifts. This way, you'll not only have a wider selection from which to pick, but the salespeople will have time to give you a little attention.

List All Chores
In addition to an actual shopping list, put down in your little notebook a list of things which must be done before Christmas. Order the new slip covers, have the guest room bed repaired, get the wood for the fireplace and have the fruit cakes made long before it's time to decorate the house. Plans for parties and the big dinner itself and the odd jobs which just can't be done early enough cause confusion without adding to them several things that could have been done early.

Furthermore, write down some kind of schedule for yourself and stick to it as closely as possible. Eat your salads and vegetables, and drink your orange juice and milk like a good little girl. Take a brisk walk every day and do try to get an adequate amount of sleep. If you get too tired, you won't look or feel your best just when you most want to.

Among unusual foods eaten in various parts of the world are: crickets in East Africa; grasshoppers among the Shoshone Indians of the state of Nevada; worms and grubs by California Indians; and ants in South America.

CHICAGO NEARING
ANOTHER CRISIS
IN RELIEF WORK

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission announcing its allocation of $5,800,000 in state aid funds for December yesterday, withheld funds from two downstate counties and two townships, charging irregularities in administration.

An allotment of $12,154 for Alexander county (Cairo) was withheld, the commission said, because a county commissioner had been acting in place of Andrew Scobian, who resigned Nov. 9 as relief administrator.

December funds of $2,673 for DeKalb township were not sent out after Thomas E. Courtney, IERC member from DeKalb, charged the local relief administrator had increased unauthorized expenditures and was short in his account.

The $1478 allotment for Massac county was not released pending investigation of charges that state funds were used to operate a

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

Don Nicklaus, outstanding center on the Dixon high school grid team during the season just past, won honorable mention in the all star state team selected by Pat Harmon of the Champaign News-Gazette. The opinion is the result of a questionnaire sent to 350 coaches, sports writers and officials. The first team includes for ends, Christopher Pavich of Spalding; Charles Gervig of Belleville; tackles, Ralph Zilly of East Aurora; Robert Wilson of Champaign; guards, Manley Graffund of Moline and Fred Michaels of Oak Park; center, William Bess of Paris; backs, Don Griffin of Fenger, Chicago; Sam Grider of Georgetown; Louis Butkovich of Canton and George Bujan of Christopher. Others who received honorable mention were Warren Reitzel of Sterling and Kenneth Prentice of DeKalb, other members of the North Central conference.

Arnold Salzman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Salzman of 319 Hennepin avenue, and freshman at Knox college at Galesburg, received his football number this week by action of the Siwash Athletic Board of Control. While at Dixon high school young Salzman was an outstanding athlete and at Knox this year he played in three line positions: guard, end and center.

The Alumni cagers will work out tonight at the high school gym at 6:45 P. M. Possible candidates for first team positions for the grade include Callahan, Boyd, Bellows, Krug and McMillon with Potts, Ellis, Kerley, Coakley and Earl Flanagan as possible starters. Also, The grads are being groomed by Charlie Roundy and Ken Barnhart is acting as manager. On Friday night the former high school players will help the present school varsity get under way on its 1938-1939 schedule. The opening game is set for 7:00 o'clock with the main event about 8:00.

Plenty of action is assured neighborhood fight fans this week. On the card tonight at Freeport, Fred "Killer" Hess of Woonung is matched with Edgar Markman of Forreston and the list for tomorrow in Sterling finds Ivan Helmick of Dixon matched with Bert Young of Bloomington.

Belvidere high school's heavyweight cagers got off on the right foot in opening their basketball season last night when they defeated the Alumni on the count of 21 to 14. Behind 3 to 4 at the end of the first quarter, the high school staged a scoring rally in the second frame to lead 14 to 5 at the end of the half. The Alumni outscored the winners 9 to 7 in the last half. Lloyd Woods was high scorer for the high school squad with six points and Berman led the grads with a total of five counters. Dixon will meet Belvidere there on January 6 and here on Feb. 10.

The Utilities basketball team, managed by Bert Cummings, defeated the state hospital employees last night by a score of 27 to 16 in a game played on the hospital court. The invaders were ahead 14 to 7 at the half. Those playing on the winning squad were Red Flanagan, Red Ellis, Earl Flanagan, Bill Rusk, Bud Kerley, Joe Hall, Ken Emmert and Danny Fane.

Russell Bush and Earl Page, have not been able to report for basketball practice with Coach L. E. Sharpe's team as yet. Bush is recovering from a recent operation and Page still favors a leg injury, a result of the Sterling-Dixon football game. Both players are expected to be on the floor for action some time before Christmas. "With the addition of Bush and Page," Coach Sharpe commented, "we will have a team of about the largest players we have ever had with an average of six feet or better." Thirty-five candidates are still reporting for practice each night, but the local mentor expects to do some cutting soon. Suggesting a probable line-up for the initial game on Friday night, Mr. Sharpe named the following as possible starters: Wieman, guard; Crawford or Moore, guard; Bevilacqua, forward; McNamara, forward; Bugg, center. Other players exhibiting first-team promise include Youngmark, center; Witzleb, forward; Kelly, forward; McNichols, guard; Cox, guard.

MENDOTA FOOTBALL TEAM IS HONORED AT ANNUAL EVENT

(Telegraph Special Service)
Mendota, Nov. 30.—The Mendota T. C. ship high school annual banquet given in honor of the football team was held last evening in the high school cafeteria.
Edward P. Zimdars was the toastmaster of the program. Invocation was given by George Nauaman. The main speaker, Rev. John E. Robeson gave an interesting address. Coach Heinz spoke of the prospects of the team for 1939. Members of the team were presented by Coach Rufus Dewitz. The high spot of the evening, the presentation of awards to the members of the squads by Supt. M. E. Steele was the next feature. A fitting response was made by the team captain, Able Shapiro. Don Troupis who was voted most valuable player by the team also said a few words to the group.
The players to receive major letters were: Able Shapiro, Don Troupis, Arthur McIntire, Robert Heisenberger, John Schmitt, Clarence Harjes, Darwin Moore, Donald Cromwell, Arthur Pohl, Budd Carr, Frank Seno, Jack Reeder, Glenn Harjes, Paul Schmitt and Harold Guilfoyle.
Minor lettermen were: Willis Ashley, Wayne Spenader, Gordon Michels, Jack Trout, Merle Knox, Robert Krenz, Jack Bierworth, R. Larkin, Melvin Campbell, Herman Lucas, Warren Neff, Warner Whipple, Clarence Fitzgerald, Louis Elssesser, Donald Foster, Bud Edwards, Donald Thorson, Bob Faber, Charles Gesslein, Bill McKeown, Elwood Peterson, Harold Schmitt and Douglas Mathiasus.
The committees in charge of the banquet were: program commit-

Jack Fox Outpoints Al Gainer in 15 Rounds

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Tiger Jack Fox, the aged Spokane, Wash., Negro, who has been haunting the light heavyweight throne room for the past five years, has only Mello Bettina, the Beacon, N. Y., southpaw in his way now.
The coast Negro outpointed Al Gainer of New Haven, Conn., in 15 slow, tiresome rounds at the Bronx coliseum last night in the first of two elimination bouts ordered by the New York State Athletic Commission. The winner of the Fox-Bettina brawl will be recognized as champion in this state although the national Boxing association still calls John Henry Lewis King. But Lewis is not champion here. The commission vacated his title when he failed to meet Fox.
The crowd of 10,040 that paid a gross gate of $6,386.80 didn't get many thrills. Fox kept connecting with his right hook and shook Gainer up considerably. He won seven rounds on the Associated Press score card while Gainer took four and four were even.

H. C. WARNER IS HOST TO DIXON GRID CHAMPIONS

Judge E. R. Shaw, Freeport, Speaker at Banquet Last Night

Judge Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport, chief justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, told the members of the 1938 football squad of the Dixon high school that the training they were receiving in preparation for membership on the squad was not to be forgotten through the remainder of their lives. Judge Shaw was the speaker at the annual banquet to which the squad, their coaches and high school faculty members and guests numbering about 150, were guests of H. C. Warner at the Elks club house last evening.

After congratulating the first team on its success in winning another conference championship, Judge Shaw said:

"I have no patience with Sunday morning quarterbacks. Those quarterbacks who think accurately and act quickly win the games and not those who outline the plays which might have won the game on Sunday morning. Football trains those participating in the game to think well and quickly and form their own judgment. A back field cannot win a game unless the line functions, thus cooperation is an important factor in the lives of football players."

"I did not witness a football game this season, but listened to several over the radio and I cannot recall any season where the ball was held on the one yard, one foot line or within inches of the goal, for downs. To me, this is an indication of thorough cooperation of eleven young men against a force of equal strength. They have fought back as a unit."

"Carry On Football Spirit!"
"There is one impression which I hope to leave with each one of you here on this occasion. The reason for your presence this evening at this banquet is your equality in school and the protection afforded by a great constitution, a great country and the laws of that country. When you quit fighting for these principles, you will cease to enjoy them. Carry the football spirit that has been instilled in you by your coaches through all of the activities of your lives and you will continue to win."

Judge Shaw recalled his membership in a Sterling high school football team about 1904 and said: "I recall having spent a pleasant afternoon under a blanket on a football field located near an old gas plant in Dixon several years ago, having been knocked out in the first quarter."

Judge Harry Edwards, a Dixon high school alumnus, recalled having played football on the first high school field in Dixon in 1897. Through the intervening years, he said, he had observed the conduct of the several teams along an unbroken course of fine manhood, clean sportsmanship, and as a high school veteran football player, he congratulated the team and its coaches upon their many fine successes.

Attorney John P. Devine told the squad members that the citizens of Dixon appreciated their efforts which were a credit not only to the students but their coaches and instructors as well. He cited the fact that a team cannot always be victorious, but can at all times play the game so as to be a credit to the parents, the instructors and coaches and individual players.
Rev. F. T. L. Walsh credited the spirit of clean sportsmanship on the football field as displayed by Dixon squads as being an important factor in their many successes. He urged that the students realize and remember the importance of the football training as an attribute in realizing better and greater lives.

Warner Is Host
The host of the evening, H. C. Warner presided as toastmaster and in closing the program, reiterated all of the fine things which had been said of the champions and their instructors, urged every student to complete his high school course and assured his guests of another like gathering next year.

At the beginning of the program, Mayor William V. Slothower, Exalted Ruler of the local Elks lodge welcomed the guests, he being followed by Superintendent A. H. Lancaster who expressed the appreciation of the high school faculty for the annual football banquets. Host Warner in presenting Coach H. B. Lindell, referred to him as being, "not only the best coach in northern Illinois, but the best coach in the north-west."

Coach Lindell briefly reviewed the team which won the 1938 conference championship. He stated that the back field outlook at the beginning of the season was not the best, the line being far more promising, but that many candidates were given trials in the backfield and an excellent team resulted finally. In his resume of the past season's activities, Coach Lindell stated that the schedule was the toughest of any he has experienced since coming to Dixon high school, due to the even matching of the several teams. In introducing the individual members of the first team, he referred to Palmer and Rinehart as the best pair of tackles since his coming to Dixon.

Athletic Director A. C. Bowers told the gathering that the prospect in Dixon indicated that Dixon would soon have one of the best football plants not only in north-west Illinois but in the middle west. The speaker commended Coach Lindell on his fine record and named Charles Roundy and Fridolf Lundholm, instructors, for their cooperation. Assistant Coach Marvin Winger forecast great promise among his group of 22 sophomores and 15 juniors next season as he introduced each individual. Freshman Coach L. E. Sharpe presented his group of "all shapes and sizes" of gridiron prospects.

COACH RESIGNS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Eddie Schultz, football end coach at the University of Pittsburgh, said today he would resign to devote his full time to his law practice.
He said he had wanted to resign at the end of the 1937 season, but that Dr. John Bain Sutherland, head coach, asked him to remain.

ILLINI TRUSTEES VETO PROPOSAL TO OUST ZUPPKE

Report 'Little Dutchman' Is Elated Over the Decision

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Robert C. Zuppke, University of Illinois football coach for 26 years, can start work on his 1939 eleven today with assurance his critics cannot cause his removal.

That assurance was given the dean of Western conference coaches yesterday by the university trustees who, by a vote of eight to one, smashed an attempt to oust him. The trustees' veto of the proposal by the university athletic board to give the veteran a leave of absence until retirement age of 65, was viewed as strengthening Zuppke's position at Illinois. Zuppke is 59 years old.

Considered a Rebuke
The trustees' verdict was considered a rebuke to the athletic board which, dissatisfied with the Illini's showing in recent years, had demanded Zuppke step aside and serve in an advisory capacity at a reduced salary, reputedly $6,000 a year.

The trustees admitted they were stunned by the proposal.

Trustee Harold Pogue, of Decatur, Ill., one of the outstanding athletes in Illinois history, immediately telephoned Zuppke at his home in Champaign. When Zuppke informed him he had resigned against his wishes Pogue led the fight to veto the proposal.
The trustees subsequently settled the matter in 20 words: "The board of trustees of the University of Illinois disapproves any change in the status of Coach Robert C. Zuppke."

Out-Foxes Critics

That meant that Zuppke, the old fox of the gridiron, had out-manuevered the defeated critics who have been howling for his scalp. When the request was made for his resignation, he surprised the athletic board by signing it, knowing it must go to the trustees at their meeting on the eve of the annual Illinois football dinner.

The "Little Dutchman," as he is known on the Illinois campus, was elated over the trustees' decision. He spent half of the night answering telephone calls from alumni in all parts of the country. They wanted to assure him of their faith in him and his methods.

"I'm glad the board of trustees acted as they did," Zuppke commented with a grin. "We probably will have a worse football team next year and I wonder if the members of the athletic board can take it. They will have to take it next year. I know that I can."

Franklin Grove Loses To Monroe Center, 28-27

John Mitchell's Franklin Grove cagers took it on the chin last night when they invaded Monroe Center and the hosts handed them a tough-to-lose defeat with a score of 28 to 27.

The Grovers trailed the rival five 14 to 21 at the close of the third quarter. In the last frame they staged a terrific comeback which missed victory only by inches. Monroe Center led 13 to 11 at the end of the half.

The lightweight of Franklin Grove, undefeated this season, kept a clean slate by trimming the Monroe Center B team 27 to 10. In the main event, Hatch, Franklin Grove forward, was the high scoring man for his team with a total of nine points. Lee of the enemy quintet raced away with scoring honors of the evening as he collected eleven points and Steeter, his teammate, sunk enough buckets to total nine points.

On Friday, Dec. 9, the Grovers invaded the Ashton court. Box score of heavyweight game:

Lee Center Five Trims Steward Cagers, 33-29

As members of the Green River Valley basketball conference the Lee Center bucket-makers invaded the Steward floor last night and took home two victories. The lightweight of Lee Center won on a count of 18 to 7 and the first string squad founced Steward 33 to 29.

Steward whipped in action in the first quarter to take the lead 10 to 7, but the visitors rallied in the second frame to take over the lead and keep it until the end of the game. The half score was 18 to 14 in favor of the Lee Center quintet.

Herman, Steward center, was high score man of the evening with a total of 12 points on six field goals. Carter, his teammate, came close behind with a total of eight points.

ORSON WELLES IS THEME OF STORY IN N. Y. MAGAZINE

Former Grand Detour
Lad Given Extensive
Writup

Todd is an expensive preparatory school of considerable antiquity, now run on severely progressive lines. The present headmaster, Roger Hill, a slim, white-haired, tweed-bearing man looks as if he had been cast for his role by a motion-picture director, has never let the traditional preparatory-school curriculum stand in the way of creative work. All the boys spend as much time as they want in the machine shop, the printshop, the bookbinder, or the school theatre. Orson Welles was at Todd from 1926 to 1931. In those five years he completed eight years of academic work and qualified for admission to college, provided the college wasn't too particular about mathematics. Also, abetted by the delighted Mr. Hill, he gave himself a thorough course in the fundamentals of the theatre. It is probable that Welles, as a boy, wore more crepe hair and putty noses than most actors do in a lifetime. When he was thirteen, he began directing the Todd Troupers, the school dramatic society. His first big job that year was a production of "Julius Caesar," played in togas but nevertheless embodying many of the ideas he later used for the Mercury boys. This was the Todd School's entry in the annual Drama League contest for high schools and little-theatre groups around Chicago. It didn't get the prize; the judges explained that, meritorious as the production was, the two lads who played Cassius and Mark Antony were both too mature to be bona-fide students. This was a severe disappointment for Welles, who had cast himself in these two leading roles to make sure that they were played exactly right.

Welles directed about eight productions a year while he was at Todd, usually playing one of the chief parts. He developed quite a nice touch at scene-painting and even executed a mural for a classroom. Fortunately, he was at a school which placed no emphasis on athletics. During his travels he learned to swim and to ride a horse. That is today the extent of his physical accomplishments. If he attempts anything else even mildly athletic, he sprains his ankle. Once he sprained his ankle while trying to chin himself. Roger Hill is inclined to believe that there is some sort of psychic slant to this infirmity, that Welles sprains his ankle because he is worried or doubtful about something. It may be.

There would be no point to a recital of Welles' childish triumphs if he had not turned up in New York a very few years later and repeated some of them as commercial and artistic successes. For instance, his last big job before he graduated from Todd was a melange of Shakespeare's historical plays—edited and directed by Orson Welles, starring Orson Welles. This was the germ of the "Five Kings" chronicle play to be presented by the Mercury this autumn to the Theatre Guild subscribers. Seven years ago, if anybody had told the Guild directors that they were going to buy an interest in a production then being whipped up by a child in a progressive school, they wouldn't have believed it. Welles, one imagines, would have been gratified but not particularly astonished.

After his graduation in 1931, Welles went to study drawing at the Chicago Art Institute. A severe attack of hay fever put a stop to this episode, so the youth got some money from his father and set out for a tour of Scotland and Ireland in search of pure air and things to sketch. While wandering about County Donegal in a donkey cart, painting dubious water colors of the local scenery, he fell in with a vacationing actor from the Gate Theatre in Dublin. A few weeks later he was passing through Dublin and went backstage to say hello to his friend. Before he left the theatre, he had agreed to make a series of appearances as guest star. He had been introduced to the director and had somehow allowed him to get the impression that he was a Theatre Guild star. It should be explained that Welles looked then, as he does today, like the sort of young man a suburban Gilbert-and-Sullivan society would cast as the Mikado. He is six feet two inches tall, weighs well over two hundred pounds, wears his hair long, and leaved last May by Columbia Records. Welles loyally includes the Mercury boys in whatever activity he embarks on; his reply to an attractive offer from Hollywood was that he would be satisfied with nothing less than his own production unit.

"Panic" was strictly an artistic experiment, which ran its scheduled two performances, was snarled at by the critics and then forgotten. It had, however, served to bring Houseman and Welles together. They decided to form a repertory company. Under the name of the Phoenix Theatre, they took an office in the Sardi Building, announced that they were going to produce Ford's "Tis Pity She's a Whore," and set out in search of backers. Nobody responded to their lure but a solitary eccentric, who said he wouldn't invest a nickel in any play going but was willing to back them to the extent of ten thousand dollars in remodelling the facade of the Bijou Theatre. Discouraged, Houseman 'drifted off' and took a job with the Federal Theatre, while Welles continued to mutter and chuckle into the National Broadcasting Company's microphones.

A year later, Houseman again brought up the question of a partnership. He pointed out to Welles that it was not very often that two ambitious young producers got hold of an angel like the Federal government. A flop produced with private funds might mean no more chances for five years, while in the WPA project a man might produce an unbroken series of flops. Welles saw the point and got right to work on an idea of Houseman's, a production of "Macbeth" to be done by the Harlem unit of the Federal Theatre. With his lush Haitian jungle peeping over the grim walls of the Scottish castle and its broad-shouldered black bucks playing out the drama of doomed ambition in scarlet and gold, it was probably the most effective presentation of this play ever put on. Just before the opening there was a brief moment when it looked as if Welles' throat was going to be cut by a delegation of Harlemites obscurely convinced that the play was going to make fun of them. He owes his present happy life to Canada Lee, the Banquo of the play, whose word carries a good deal of weight on upper Seventh Avenue.

After this success, Welles directed and acted in "Horse Eats Hat" for the WPA and played the lead in a WPA "Dr. Faustus." Then came "The Cradle Will Rock," which turned overnight from a WPA production into a Mercury play. You know the rest; in the Sunday dramatic sections you have read how Welles and Houseman, when the WPA cancelled the production, opened it under their somewhat scanty auspices, with no scenery, and no cast, to circumvent an Equity injunction, speaking their lines from seats in the orchestra. It is said that Marc Blitzstein, author of the show and the officiating pianist, bitterly resented the agreement with Equity which finally allowed the cast to join him on the stage.

SETTLES FOR $50,000
Chicago (AP)—John C. Goetsch, 49, former Chicago policeman, yesterday won a $50,000 settlement from the Santa Fe railroad, one of the largest personal injury settlements on local record. Goetsch, San Bernardino, Calif., a switchman, had sued the railroad for $150,000 for loss of his right leg and part of his right hand when run over by a box car in San Bernardino last January.

GOP'S PROGRAM COMMITTEE WILL TAKE SOUNDINGS

Will Gather Material to Submit for 1940 Proclamation

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Republican program committee disclosed today it is "taking soundings" of rank-and-file party opinion in an effort to gather material for a 1940 platform.

Dr. Glenn Frank, program chairman, told the Republican national committee that his group would offer suggestions to the regular quadrennial convention. Originally a mid-term convention to draft party policy had been suggested by several Republican leaders, including former President Hoover.

In its session yesterday, the national committee left the way open for Republican members of congress to make day-to-day decisions on questions of policy.

Chairman John Hamilton said that policy problems were not discussed and that committee members spent most of their time assuring one another the party would win the presidency in 1940. The program committee said in a statement today that "a record of extensive soundings of rank and file Republican reaction" now being compiled, will be submitted to the 1940 convention platform committee. Specific proposals for party declarations also will be offered.

Talk of Candidates. Much conversation at the committee meeting yesterday revolved around the question of a presidential nominee for 1940.

Kenneth Simpson, who managed the gubernatorial campaign of Thomas E. Dewey, declined to make any prediction about the latter. He asserted, however, that when Dewey has completed his work as a New York prosecutor, it may be time to re-survey the general political situation.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, another who has been mentioned for the Republican nomination, told reporters:

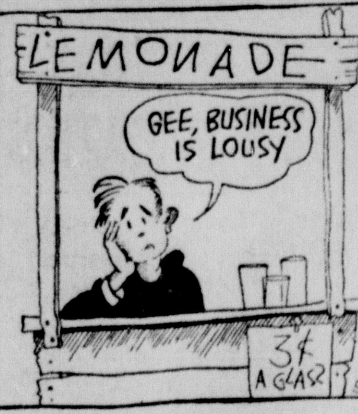

"I would not lift a finger to get a single delegate to the convention. I'm not running for anything. I'm running away."

As a follow-up to the committee session, leaders of Republican women's clubs were called together today to complete organization of their new national federation. It has 131 affiliated clubs, including 12 state federations.

"If we get the women educated in Republican doctrines, they go

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

As a child did you ever set up a stand and try to sell lemonade to the general public at two or three cents a glass, or even for whatever you could get? As the Ol' Professor remembers his experience along that line, it was good business because if you got the lemonade at home it was almost 100 per cent profit. Well, anyway, a business problem confronted a couple of ambitious youngsters. One of them got the idea and set up a stand. The other youngster, a rival, set up a stand across the street. Both discovered a source of supply in a generous man who ran the lemonade concession at a nearby amusement park. He even stopped on his way to the park one morning to deliver the lemonade to the two stands. All he had were two ten-gallon cans of lemonade. One boy had a four-quart pail, the other had a five-quart pail. How did the man fill the pails in the fewest moves?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler
The "system" gambler had started with $720. He lost $432, then $96, then $48. He bet the remainder, $144 at 4 to 1 and won $576 and was even.

out and are salesmen for the party," commented Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant to Chairman Hamilton.

KNOWN RESULTS OF SALTIEL LAW SUMMARIZED BY STATE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 30—(AP)—Known results of the Illinois hygiene marriage law or so-called Saltiel law in the first 18 months of its operation were recounted today by Dr. A. C. Baxter, acting state health director.

Health department figures for the eighteen months ended Oct. 1 this year show that 1,100 positive syphilis reactions were found in 60,124 tests made in compliance with marriage law requirements. This was 1.8 per cent of the tests, required by the statute before marriage licenses may be issued.

The health department head said evidence of infection was probably found in a considerably larger number since the statistics applied only to tests made in the state diagnostic laboratories. Many of the tests were made in municipal and private laboratories.

Dr. Baxter indicated that the drop in the number of marriage licenses issued in the state after the hygiene law became effective was being slowly rectified in some counties. The number of marriage licenses issued in the state as a whole, however, continues well below the figures recorded before the law was in force.

FACE to FACE,
Your Mileage Merchant can frankly give you these same straight reasons for positive winter starting and big oil savings with your engine OIL-PLATED... more than an oil-change!

SEE how refreshing it is, the way Your Mileage Merchant—here in the paper and at his Conoco station—backs up his statements about Germ Processed oil. It brings you more than an oil-change, because right after it is pumped up from the crankcase like any oil, it does something any oil cannot do. Energized by the Germ Process—patented—it bonds to every working part and stays up lastingly in the form of OIL-PLATING. Even grindstones can scarcely remove OIL-PLATING, so it certainly cannot drain down while your car stands cold—no matter how long.

Therefore the instant you want to start up, every engine part swiftly and safely slides into action on its ready OIL-PLATING—the lubricant that plainly can't be held back by any cold; that can't hold back your battery. The quick starts tell you there's no grinding wear in your OIL-PLATED engine.

It won't get hoggish with your Conoco Germ Processed oil, another good straight reason for you to change to Your Mileage Merchant today.
